Regulations Called Unconstitutional

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEEDMORE (Fulton Co.) — Four farmers have sued the Belfast Township board of supervisors here for adopting laws designed to freeze the growth of intensive and corporate agriculture in the township.

Filed the last week of November, the lawsuit claims that three ordinances passed by the Fulton County township within the last year and a half are unlawfully restrictive and, in several instances, violate the U.S. and Pennsylvania constitutions.

Dave Garrison of Stevens & Lee law firm near Philadelphia is representing the plaintiffs — two livestock producers and two dairy producers operating in Belfast Township.

"When viewed collectively and in context, the three ordinances are clearly an illegal attempt to hinder or prohibit corporate animal farming in the township," Garrison writes in the lawsuit.

One of the ordinances, adopted in its final version last February, essentially prohibits nonfamily corporations or syndicates from establishing new or expanding current livestock operations in the township.

Titled the "Belfast Township Farm Ownership Ordinance," the law allows that a nonfamily corporation engaged in ag production at the time the ordinance was adopted may continue to operate.

"However, this exception does not allow the corporation or syndicate to change or alter the nature or extent of the farming enterprise currently existing on the farm," the ordinance states.

Another provision in the law is that family corporations are allowed to operate under the stipulation that at least one of the family members "shall

A.I. Shows Up In Union County

'Tis The Season For Biosecurity,' Says Hayes

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Recently five flocks in Union County have tested positive for avian influenza.

Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes presided at a press conference Wednesday with the assistance of state veterinarian John Enck and PennAg vice president Jim Shirk.

"This is not a crisis," said Hayes. "It is not to sound an alarm. There is a smidgen of the H7N2 virus in the commonwealth right now, but we're moving with dispatch," he said. "What we have to do is react effectively."

Five different growers own the five flocks that are located in lower Union County, close to the Centre and Snyder county lines. Two flocks of broiler breeders, about 8,000 birds each, and one flock of 56,00 broilers were infected.

Two flocks that turned up positive after the press conference will be depopulated and composted within the house, said Shirk.

"One of the biggest risks in biosecuity is moving birds that are shedding the virus around. We want to use extreme caution to reduce feathers and dust flying off farms. It's a better option to lock them down inside the house," said Shirk.

The two additional flocks, 11,000 in each flock and two different owners, are located within the same area as the first three flocks that tested positive.

Within a two-mile radius every bird will be marketed by Saturday, said Shirk. "If they are negative we don't want them to go positive. The best option for the producer is to have negative birds and take them to market," he said.

"We're not going to go and just simply depopulate in that 5-mile radius," he said. "We're surveying and testing flocks to make sure they don't have the virus, and we are asking houses to stay empty after flocks get out."

Northeast Broiler Fryer Parts Part I

ATLANTA, GA.
Report Supplied By USDA

Trucklot buying activity was noted as seasonally light to fair at best as holiday items dominated the market and dealers limited purchases to most immediate needs. Offerings of boneless-skinless breasts were fully sufficient, and bone-in breasts were at least adequate to available. Dark meat cuts were fully adequate with thighs in the longest position. Wings remained irregular ranging balanced to adequate. Movement through retail and distributive channels was no better than fair but noted as typical for this time of the year. The market tone was steady to fully steady on wings, barely steady to weak on thighs and no better than steady on the balance.

ICE PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES, CENTS PER POUND.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer

ATLANTA, GA.
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally quiet as buyer interest centered on other items for the upcoming holiday period. Offerings were ample, particulary on the heavier sizes. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were desirable to heavier than desired. Processing schedules were very light with some plants closed to keep production in better balance with needs. Most plants planned operations on the upcoming Saturday. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 48 to 62 cents. Wings were in good balance. Bone-in breasts and leg quarters were readily available. Other cuts were at least adequate.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

ROSEMARY FOR REMEMBRANCE

According to one legend, the herb known as rosmarinus, or "flower of the sea" once had no fragrance or flower. After Jesus' birth, Mary chose the bush when she sought a place to dry the baby garments she had washed in a stream. Mary blessed the rosemary bush, giving it blue flowers that matched her cloak and the spicy fragrance in remembrance of the baby Jesus. The herb is also a symbol of fidelity. In teas, it is often used to quiet the nerves. Since ancient times, it has been used to improve or restore memory. Even the English herbalist Nicholas Culpeper (1616–1654) recommended it for "drowsiness or dulness [sic] of the mind and senses like a stupidness, the dumb palsy, or loss of speech, the lethargy," and more. Bathing in it was believed to restore youth, and Shakespeare regarded it as an emblem of love.

Doth not rosemary and Romeo both begin with a [one] letter?

–William Shakespeare

TIP OF THE WEEK

ROSEMARY-DIJON LAMB CHOPS

1/2 cup Dijon mustard
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon minced fresh rosemary, or 1 teaspoon dry
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
1 2 teaspoon paprika
4 lamb chops, trimmed
1 tablespoon olive oil
fresh rosemary sprigs, for garnish

Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine mustard and spices. Spread mixture over both sides of the chops. Heat olive oil in a skillet and brown the chops on both sides. Remove from the stovetop, cover, and finish cooking in the oven for about 15 minutes. Garnish with rosemary sprigs before serving.

Makes 4 servings.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Report Supplied By USDA

Wheat bids traded higher with support stemming from China's substantial overnight purchase. Corn and soybean bids were underpinned by higher wheat bids along with continued dry conditions in Argentina. There were no ex- port sales reported for either corn or beans mid-week but ideas interest will pickup, boosted bids. Wheat 1 to 3 cents higher up 1 to 10 cents higher in St. Louis. Corn steady to 1 cent lower. Sorghum steady to 1 cent higher. Soybeans 2 to 4 cents higher.

Spirit Of Christmas

Late one Christmas Eve I sank back, tired but content, into my easy chair. The kids were in bed, the gifts were wrapped, the milk and cookies waited by the fireplace for Santa.

As I sat back admiring the tree with its decorations, I couldn't help but feel that something was missing. It wasn't long before the tiny twinkling tree lights lulled me to sleep. I don't know how long I slept, but all of a sudden I knew that I wasn't alone.

I opened my eyes and you can imagine my surprise when I saw Santa Claus himself standing next to my Christmas tree. He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot just as the poem described him. But he was not the "jolly old elf" of Christmas legend. The man who stood before me looked sad and disappointed. And there were tears in his eyes.

"Santa, what's wrong?" I asked. "Why are you crying?"

"It's the children," Santa replied sadly.

"But the children love you," I said.

"Oh, I know they love me, and the gifts I bring them," Santa said. "But the children of today seem to have somehow missed out on the true spirit of Christmas. It's not their fault. It's just that the adults, many of them not having been taught themselves, have forgotten to teach the children."

"Teach them what?" I asked.

Santa's kind old face became soft, more gentle. His eyes began to shine with something more than tears. He spoke softly. "Teach the children the true meaning of Christmas. Teach them that the part of Christmas we can see, hear and touch is much more than meets the eye. Teach them the symbolism behind the customs and traditions of Christmas we now observe. Teach them what it is they truly represent."

Santa reached into his bag and pulled out a tiny Christmas tree and set it on my mantel. "Teach them about the Christmas tree. Green is the second color of Christmas. The stately evergreen with its unchanging color represents the hope of eternal life in Jesus. Its needles point heavenward as a reminder that man's thoughts should turn heavenward as well."

Santa reached into his bag again and pulled out a shiny star and placed it at the top of the small tree. "The star was the heavenly sign of promise. God promised a Savior for the world and the star was the sign of the fulfillment of that promise of the night that Jesus Christ was born. Teach the children that God always fulfills His promises and that wise men still seek Him."

"Red," said Santa, "is the first color of Christmas." He pulled forth a red ornament for the tiny tree. "Red is deep, intense, vivid. It is the color of the life giving blood that flows through our veins. It is the symbol of God's greatest gift. Teach the children that Christ gave His life and shed His blood for them that they might have eternal life. When they see the color red it should remind them of that most wonderful gift."

Santa found a bell in his pack and placed it on the tree. "Just as lost sheep are guided to safety by the sound of the bell, it continues to ring today for all to be guided to the fold. Teach the children to follow the true Shepherd who gave His life for the sheep."

Santa placed a candle on the mantel and lit it. The soft glow from its one tiny flame brightened the room. "The glow of the candle represents how man can show his thanks for the gift of God's son that Christmas Eve long ago. Teach the children to follow in Christ's footsteps. To go about doing good. Teach them to let their lights shine before men that all may see it and glorify God. This is what is symbolized when the twinkle lights shine on the tree like hundreds of bright, shining candles, each of them representing one of God's precious children, their light shining for all to see."

Again, Santa reached into his bag and this time he brought forth a tiny red and white striped candy cane. As he hung it on the tree, he spoke softly, "The candy can is a stick of hard, white candy. White to symbolize the virgin birth and sinless nature of Jesus and the shape 'J' to represent the precious name of Jesus who came to earth as our Savior. It also represents the crook of the Good Shepherd, which he uses to reach down into the ditches of the world to lift out the fallen lambs who, like sheep, have gone astray. The original candy cane had three small red stripes that are the stripes of the scourging Jesus received by which we are healed, and a large red stripe that represents the shed blood of Jesus so that we can have eternal life. Teach these things to the children."

Santa brought out a beautiful wreath made of fresh fragrant greenery and tied with a bright red bow. "The bow reminds us of the bond of perfection which is love. The wreath embodies all the good things about Christmas for those with eyes to see and hearts to understand. It contains the colors of red and green and the heaven turned needles of the evergreen. The bow tells the story of good will toward all and its color reminds us of Christ's sacrifice. Even its very shape is symbolic, representing eternity and the eternal nature of Christ's love. It is a circle without beginning and without end. These are the things you must teach the children."

"But where does that leave you, Santa?" I asked.

The tears gone now from his eyes, a smile broke over Santa's face. "Why, bless you my dear," he laughed. "I'm only a symbol myself. I represent the spirit of family fun and the joy of giving and receiving. If the children are taught these other things, there is no danger that I'll ever be forgotten."

"I think I'm beginning to understand, I replied.

"That's why I came," said Santa. "You're an adult. If you don't teach the children these things, then who will?"

Now Is The Time

To Remember The Reason For The Season

Recently I have been reading accounts of how people have made major changes in their lives since the events of Sept. 11. The common thread in the stories is that most people are adjusting their other goals in life to make more time for family and serving others. Some have changed jobs, giving up the chance for large financial gain in order to achieve other goals of greater value.

Many of us working in agriculture and especially those on the farm have already chosen that profession because of a desire to seek to put family and service to God and mankind ahead of financial gain. However, even employment on the farm can become so demanding that if we are not diligent we may find our work is preventing us from reaching other life goals.

Take time to evaluate your life and make sure things are in a healthy balance. Make a special effort to make some Christmas memories with your family. Volunteer at an inner-city mission where you and your family will have the opportunity to interact with people in very different situations and will grow to appreciate your blessings even more. Finally, give thanks for the birth of Christ, who brought light and joy to the world 2000 years ago.

To Understand Difference Between Soy-Diesel And Bio-Diesel

Depending on your definition of "soy-diesel," you may have misunderstood recent warnings from Dennis Buffington, professor of agricultural and biological engineering, on the dangers of burning soy-diesel blended with diesel fuel in engines.

According to Buffington, the term "bio-diesel" is the modern term for transesterfied oil (whether its origin is vegetable, animal, or spent cooking oil). Bio-diesel meets ASTM Fuel Grade Standards PS-121 and it is perfectly safe and advisable to burn bio-diesel straight or blended with conventional diesel fuel in diesel engines. However, Buffington points out that in some regions of the country, the term soy-diesel is still being used to refer to bio-diesel that is derived from soybean oil. In these regions of the country it is also perfectly safe to use this fuel either straight or blended with diesel fuel since this meets ASTM standards and relevant government regulations.

However, in some parts of the country, the term "soy-diesel" is being used to refer to raw soybean oil that is blended with diesel fuel along with an additive. According to Buffington, "engines will run short term on this mixture, but the mixture does not meet ASTM standards. It does not meet government regulations and users risk damaging their engines."

Buffington warns it is "buyer beware" of what he or she is purchasing to use as a fuel in an engine. If you have doubts, check the owner's manual and a certified fuel supplier to determine the proper fuel for the optimal performance and service life of the engine.

To Respond To The EPA Drift Control Regulations

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is seeking comments until Jan. 19, 2002 on proposed pesticide product labeling designed to reduce spray drift.

Bill Hoffman, senior extension associate in Penn State's Pest Management Information Center, says crop producers could be affected by new restrictions on ground boom and air blast sprayers.

The proposed labeling targets application criteria to reduce windblown spray droplets and particles. Some potential restrictions for ground boom sprayers include nozzle height must be within 48 inches of the ground or the top of the crop canopy. All applications in winds greater than 10 mph will be prohibited.

With air blast sprayers, operators will be prohibited from directing sprays above trees or vines in orchards or vineyards. They would be required to turn off outward pointing nozzles at row ends and outer rows. Applications will be prohibited when wind speeds are less than three mph or greater than 10 mph.

The proposal is available on the Web at http://www.epa.gov/opppmsd1/PR—notices/prdraft-spraydrift801.htm or by "fax on demand" at (202) 401-0527 (select item 6142). Comments must be received by Jan. 19, 2002 and identified by the docket control number opp-00730 on the first page of a mail submission, or in the subject line of and e-mail. E-mail comments to opp-docket@epa.gov or mail them to PRIB Information Resources and Services Division, Office of Pesticide Programs/EPA, 1200 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20460.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

INCREASING HIS GOVERNMENT

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 9:1-7; Luke 2:1-20.
Devotional Reading:
Luke 2:8-20.

When Dr. Samuel Johnson demanded to know what good Oliver Cromwel had ever done England, Lord Auchinleck exploded, "God! doctor, he taught kings that they had a joint in their neck." Kings were mortal and their heads no more secure than others.

Despite our democratic ideals, we often forget that all human beings have "a joint in their neck." Unfortunately, in democratic as well as totalitarian lands, we look to human beings to do and be what is beyond human nature. We confer a near-perfection upon them and expect that they will rule in perfect wisdom and justice. When they fail us, some of us will stoutly deny their failure, while others will see only their failures.

Just one year ago, approximately one-half of the U.S. was happy with the outcome of the presidential election, while the other half of the country was quite unhappy. I think politics may now be our true religion. For many the litmus test of character is not whether they believe in and serve God, but whether they are a Republican or Democrat.

The Anointed One

In ancient Israel, kings were ceremonially anointed as God's Messiah — "the anointed one" — and were regarded as semi-divine. Unfortunately, none of them lived up to those expectations.

King David himself was an imperfect ruler. Isaiah 9:2-7 might have originally been part of the royal anointing, signifying the model of the ideal king.

But again and again they were disappointed in their expectation. Christians see the prophecy fulfilled in the advent of Jesus Christ. His rule is spiritual rather than temporal, something which many could not accept. We hold that no temporal ruler can ever be the "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace." But Jesus Christ for us is all of that and more.

Christ's advent as a "child . . . born for us, a son given to us," bursts upon this world as "a great light" that shines in the darkness of human affairs. Isaiah 8 describes in detail the darkness of the times: injustice, corruption, and the faithlessness of God's people. As at the creation of the world, God said, "Let there be light, and there was light" to vanquish the dark chaos, so the advent of God's Messiah was a brilliant light shined into the deep darkness of human society.

Messianic Expectations

Have we not yet learned that salvation does not come from kings, emperors, dictators, oligarchies, presidents, prime ministers, or anarchic mobs? As good citizens, we must choose the best leaders we can, but never invest in them our messianic adulation and expectations.

Our ultimate loyalty must be to Christ, not to a candidate nor to a party. This does not mean that we cannot or should not participate in parties, so long as we remember that "Christian" is the benchmark, not "liberal" or "conservative."

It seems incredible that Christian should look to this helpless child born in a stable as the "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace," but God has never pretended that his ways are our ways. When we are truly aware of what God wants and what he is doing, he astounds us every step of the way.

Christmas this year will not likely bring us God's Peaceable Kingdom, but just as Isaiah prophesied, "Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end . . .," our joyous opportunity is to promote as much as we can the increase of his government in our lives and society. "For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government will be upon his shoulder . . ."

Come Lord, Jesus, come!

National Turkey Market At A Glance

Des Moines, Iowa
Report Supplied By USDA

DOMESTIC MARKET HIGHLIGHTS: The market tone on 8-16 lb hens and 16-24 lb toms was steady to weak. Demand slow. Trading not well tested. Supplies of frozen hens and toms were uneven, adequate to ample. Bulk parts and meat trading was seasonally slow as most processors working short holiday schedules.

EXPORT MARKET HIGHLIGHTS: Trading centered on a moderately heavy volumes of frozen tom drums. Demand fairly mixed but mostly for prompt shipments to Mexico. Also, increased interest noted from Russia for January deliveries.

May the magic of Christmas fill your souls with wonderful things! Our thanks to one and all!

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

Ken Bailey
Penn State

Dec. 14, 2001

Reflections On Our Agricultural Economy

Milk prices have dropped significantly in recent weeks and it's pretty easy for dairy farmers to let this get them down. We've all heard that cheese and butter prices have taken a nose-dive in reaction to a slowing economy and the after effects of Sept. 11.

Globalization, new technologies, and consolidation at the retail, cooperative, and processor levels are forcing many changes upon the family farm. This makes some farmers wonder whether or not their individual contributions are valued by society.

Fact is, the U.S. has the largest and most sophisticated economy in the world. Consumers have a wide selection of high-quality foods at very low costs. The typical American household spends less than 10 percent of their disposable income on food. That frees up the rest of our wallet to buy other things, important things, such as big homes, SUV trucks, the latest and greatest computer games, and electronic gadgets. That results in even more economic activity that makes our economy grow year after year.

I have been reflecting on the importance of agriculture in our everyday lives this past year. Academic scholars debate whether agriculture represents the foundation of the U.S. economy. Some say that it does, others argue our economy has advanced well beyond this. Some might even suggest that agriculture represents a declining industry that can be "outsourced" to other countries much like steel, electronics, and textiles.

The truth is, we have seen dramatic evidence this year just how important agriculture is to a country's economy and political stability. Britain experienced a gut-wrenching outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease that resulted in the slaughter of four million animals. We all shared the pain felt by family farmers devastated over the loss of their farm animals. What surprised me was the economic ripple effect that this tragedy had on the rest of the British economy. No one doubts today that agriculture represents a very important part of the fabric of life in Britain and the rest of Europe.

The fact is, no country can have a successful economy if people are hungry or believe their personal security is threatened. We know that what people "feel" has an impact on the stock market, retail sales, and growth of the greater U.S. economy. Right now consumer confidence in the U.S. is low and people don't "feel" good about the economy. That is contributing to part of our current economic malaise.

The recent events in Afghanistan also show just how important food is to the political stability of a country. The U.S. is airlifting tons of food each day into Afghanistan. Our reasons are clear: we're trying to feed people and create an environment in which a new government can be formed. Even more food will be delivered this winter. Bags and bags of wheat and other food products from the U.S. will be distributed to the people of Afghanistan. American farmers can take pride in the fact that they are personally involved with this important relief effort.

My guess is that once the fighting stops — and let's hope that is soon — the global community will begin the process of rebuilding the agricultural economy in Afghanistan. Micro loans will become available and technical help will be sent to aide farmers in rebuilding their agricultural infrastructure. This will not only relieve starvation in the cities where people can't find food, but it will also create jobs and spur economic development in rural communities.

Dairy farmers throughout the U.S. should take pride in the fact that they have one of the most important jobs in our economy. As we have already seen this year, a nation's economy can get in big trouble if consumers question the safety, quality, and abundance of their food sources.

The dairy industry alone represents a $26 billion dollar industry at the farm level. Dairy farmers are part of a growth industry that employs veterinarians, input dealers, and even a few economists! This estimate doesn't take into consideration other jobs that are created when milk is processed, distributed, and sold at retail. The dairy foods industry represents $70 billion a year in economic activity. Thus dairy farmers can take pride in the contribution they make to the general economy.

But dollars and cents can't reflect all of the contributions that dairy farmers make in the lives of our American families. Numbers can't measure the delight of a small child when they are treated to an ice cream cone. They can't reflect the contribution that calcium makes to strong bones and overall good health. And they don't measure the warmth that American families will feel this Christmas when they sit down to a home-cooked meal complimented with farm-fresh butter, abundant supplies of milk and cream, and great tasting cheese and ice cream.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No.2y — 2.29 bu., 4.10 cwt.
Wheat, No.2 — 2.58 bu., 4.31 cwt.
Barley, No.3 — 1.57 bu., 3.35 cwt.
Oats, No.2 — 1.52 bu., 4.74 cwt.
Soybeans, No.1 — 4.12 bu., 6.87 cwt
Ear Corn — 62.70 ton, 3.13 cwt.
Alfalfa Hay — 123.75 ton, 6.19 cwt.
Mixed Hay — 118 75 ton, 5.94 cwt.
Timothy Hay — 115.00 ton, 5.75 cwt.

CropSaver™ BUFFERED ACID

THE ADVANTAGES OF CROPSAVER-TREATED HAY VS. DRY PRESERVATIVE-TREATED HAY

CropSaver-treated hay is greener and more moist
Improved hay bale quality brings a higher sale price
Cows love it and produce more milk when they eat it
CropSaver is chemically buffered minimizing equipment rust
Dry hay preservatives are weaker, usually labeled only up to 25% moisture and are more difficult to apply evenly and consistently

National Feeder Cattle Weekly Summary

St. Joseph, Mo.
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER CATTLE SUMMARY for week ending Dec. 14. Receipts: This week 220,300; last week 245,200; year ago 179,000. Compared to last week: feeder cattle and calves sold 1.00-3.00 lower in most areas. The Southeast was the only exception with the USDA's Livestock Market News Service quoting mostly steady prices, but weakness was noted on weights from 300-450 lbs. These are the most popular weights that western buyers are looking for to turn-out on wheat. Most backgrounders have all the cattle they need right now and there is no reason to raise the average price on the cattle that they already have. Also, winter wheat grazing may be better than last year, but most areas remain dry with the exception of a few garden spots in Oklahoma and Kansas. Part of the void left by the wheat cattle buyers is being filled by farmer feeders in the Midwest, who have just now entered the market for a few cattle to keep them busy this winter. Some of these buyers are looking to build inventories before the end of the year. Feedlot buyers were fairly quiet this week, especially in the country, and the final quarter of this year should take care of any tax problems that they might have had. Slaughter steers and heifers sold 2.00 lower live and 3.00 lower on a dressed basis at 63.00 and 101.00-102.00. The futures market continues to pressure prices with several days in a row of lower trading sessions. The next two weeks look bleak with packers on limited kill schedules and something besides beef on most people's plates. A few cattle feeders may be seen at the mall this Christmas, standing in Santa Claus' line with a handful of breakeven sheets. However; cattle markets may see a spark after New Years, similar to the one we saw following Thanksgiving. February Live Cattle Futures are now trading at a 4.00 premium to December contracts. This week's volume included 31 percent over 600 lbs.

Farmers Dispute

reside on or be actively engaged in the day-to-day labor and management of the farm located within Belfast Township."

A second ordinance, passed in July of 2000, would require an extensive water impact study and authorization by the township for any "new use" that proposes to withdraw more than 3,000 gallons of water per day from township resources.

A typical 100-cow Holstein operation with replacement stock in a modern milking facility would use more than 3,000 gallons of water per day, according to figures gathered from the Penn State Department of Dairy and Animal Science and a dairy equipment supplier in Leola.

The ordinance defines the water impact study as "A comprehensive study prepared by two certified hydrologists, each holding a Ph.D. in the field, that delineates the impact of new construction or new use on private and public well and spring water sources within a three-mile radius of the proposed new construction or new use."

Ricky Leese, one of the plaintiffs in the lawsuit, raises about 3,400 hogs under contract with a Pennsylvania corporation. The operation uses 6,000 to 8,000 gallons of water per day.

Leese said he is considering expanding the operation to help provide a livelihood for his son, age 23.

However, he believes the cost of a water impact study as defined in the ordinance would be prohibitive.

"It would be totally unaffordable," he said.

Leese owns about 600 acres and has been farming in Belfast Township for 25 years. His operation includes a cow/calf beef herd and feeder steers as well as growing corn, hay and oats on the farm.

Leese said that the hog business has been providing a good living for him and his family.

"We wouldn't be able to operate without the hogs," he said.

Another plaintiff, Ralph Swope, raises about 20 head of beef on his 105 acre farm. He said would like to be able to turn the farm over to his nephew for a dairy operation, but believes it would be impossible under the new ordinances.

"No matter what (my nephew) wants to do, he can't do it," Swope said.

Swope has lived on the farm for his entire life — 66 years so far. He believes the new laws will limit his retirement options.

"The only thing you can do now is eat (the farm) or develop it," he said.

The third ordinance, also passed in July 2000, authorizes the township to ban corporations who have committeed three or more violations in the past 15 years.

Thomas Linzey, attorney with the Community Environmental Legal Defense Fund (CELDF) based in Chambersburg, said that the township supervisors drafted "customized versions" of the ordinances based on models that he presented to them.

The CELDF was formed in 1995 to provide legal services to Pennsylvania grassroots environmental organizations.

According to Linzey, the anti-corporate laws have precedence in nine midwest states, including Nebraska and South Dakota, where "absentee corporations" have been banned from engaging in agriculture.

Steve Grosz, chief deputy for the Nebraska attorney general, said Nebraska adopted legislation in 1982 that prohibits non-family corporations from "owning agricultural real estate or engaging in farming."

The legislation was successfully defended in court from several lawsuits that contested it in the 1980s, Grosz said.

While its constitutionality has not been challenged recently, Grosz said the legislation is still "relatively controversial."

Such laws are meant to keep agriculture in the hands of independent, family farmers, according to Linzey of the CELDF.

He noted that several other Pennsylvania townships have recently adopted similar ordinances, with about 20 additional municipalities considering them.

Townships passing anti-corporate farming legislation since December of last year include South Newton Township in Cumberland County and Locust Township in Columbia County.

"We see them as 'factory farm' ordinances," Linzey said.

According to Garrison, however, all three of the Belfast Township laws overstep the legal power vested in township governments.

"The township does not have the authority to pass these ordinances," he said. "This case is not about harm to the environment. It is about certain people's perceptions."

One of the statements the lawsuit specifically contests in the "farm ownership" ordinance reads: "The Belfast Township Supervisors recognize that com-

mately 23 million layers, 135 million broilers, and 10 million turkeys. The commonwealth is fourth in the nation for egg and broiler production. The poultry industry provides $700 million in annual income, as the commonwealth, as an aggregate, is the sixth largest poultry state in the country.

Preventative Measures

"We are asking growers to not congregate and refrain from traveling from quarantine site to other sites," said Hayes.

Poultry exhibitors are asked not to bring poultry to the Farm Show this January, a measure that is not unusual to the commonwealth, said Hayes.

In addition, "wash vehicles between farms," said Jim Shirk, who also emphasized that growers should not take clothing worn among the birds to another farm.

"Also shower between farms — anything you can do before you leave your farm," he said. "Keep in mind that your trip to another farm could be something you take back to your farm or you could take something to that farm," he said.

"One of the reasons we have been so successful with early warning is the monitoring flock program," said Hayes. The program began in 1997. "Because of that difference we are in the best possible position to get early warning," he said. "Day by day professionals take samples and observe Pennsylvania's flocks."

In the program, 200,000 A.I. tests are conducted each year, including 120,000 blood and 80,000 egg tests. The monitor flock program was not done in the '80s and "is now even more comprehensive than before," said Hayes.

The virus can be transmitted through feathers and dandruff. Although it is easily transmissible, the virus is also easily quelled because it is not long-lived. Besides tests, the virus is identified by clinical signs. Birds will exhibit signs of fever and stress.

Vaccinations

Vaccinations, while available, are not the "silver bullet," said Hayes, since "there are hundreds of strains," making it difficult to pinpoint which vaccine should be administered.

In addition, vaccines are made up of components of the virus.

"In the international market Pennsylvania would be discriminated against because blood tests would show an introduction of influenza," he said.

As for the source, "we're working with the live bird markets," he said. "They have been cleaned up considerably but continue to offer a biosecurity challenge." All Pennsylvania birds are tested before they are sent to market.

The facilities will be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. "There will be no organic material, it has to be completely clean top to bottom," he said. Authorities will take cultures and determine when the repopulation may occur, probably in 2-4 months, Hayes estimated.

NEW YEAR PARTY PLANS: THE LAST CHECKLIST FOR 2001

Roland P. Freund
Regional Farm Management Agent

Let's complete this year's business before we celebrate the New Year!

The calendar gets very full with church, family, and fun celebrations at this time, so business tasks tend to end up on the back burner. But prudent farm managers will take steps to save taxes, know if they have accounted for finances accurately, and collect the information needed to accurately measure the 2001 business performance.

Essential tasks for the year-end "to-do list" include:

• Pay all bills due. This is a good business practice, and it simplifies the task of preparing the list of accounts payable if there are none! Each dollar spent could save you 50 cents or more in taxes.

Roland P. Freund

• Count your blessings. 2001 has been an incredibly good milk price year.

• At this season, give generously to your church and charities. Not only will you share your blessings, but contributions give you the same tax break as advance purchases of feed or supplies.

• Complete farm records. Next year starts a new record period for most farmers. Confusion reigns when two sets of books are used simultaneously, so it is important to get all available transactions recorded promptly. However, it may not be possible to finally close the books until some statements are available. These include bank statements giving you the amount of interest and principal to record.

• Take inventory. The end-of-year inventory is essential for analysis. For accuracy it should be completed before you retire New Year's Eve, but having to use a flashlight can be cumbersome! If it is done carefully, every year balance sheet changes can be calculated for 2001 accrual adjustments. Bank balance-sheet forms can be used to record the information. Computerized systems should have them built in. If you need a worksheet or spreadsheet, call (717) 240-6500 or e-mail rfreund@psu.edu.

The "Dairy Farm Feed Cost Control" spreadsheet can help with silo capacity and such computations. Go to http://capitaldairy.cas.psu.edu/, click on "Tools Archive," and scroll down to download it.

The "Current Assets" section of the inventory includes "Growing crops." Enter the value of seed, fertilizer/lime, and fuel invested. Record crops for sale and feed, including feed in mill storage and prepurchases. Significant supplies of fertilizer, chemicals, and semen must be listed and valued. Feeder livestock and growing heifers should be included. "Accounts receivable" (milk check, crop/livestock sales, etc.) and "Cash Balance" (checking + savings + under mattress) must be accurately recorded to make any cash flow check reliable.

Feed and livestock inventories should be valued at a conservative farm-gate value. That means market price less commission, less the cost of getting them to the selling point. If the auction sells a single ton of hay for $150, buyers might only offer $110 for each of your 1,000 tons of hay equivalent at your farm.

As a rule of thumb, consider each dry matter ton of haylage to be worth no more than a ton of hay made from the same cut. To convert high-moisture shelled corn to its dry bushel equivalent, use the formula Pounds wet × D.M. (as decimal)/47.36. Example: (50 tons at 70 percent D.M.) is 100,000 pounds × 0.7/47.36 = 1,478 bushels. For ear corn, use the factor 59.2 in the formula. With heifers it may be appropriate to change values to reflect the market swings, but keep them conservative.

• Update list of capital assets. Your accountant needs information on sales and purchases of all capital assets to maintain the depreciation (basis) record. But you need to do your own fair market valuation annually.

Unless you are planning to sell out, avoid wild fluctuations in dairy cow values, and don't escalate land values annually. These gimmicks can seriously distort analysis. Aim to reduce the value of equipment in inventory and dairy buildings and structures by 10 to 20 percent annually.

• Begin liabilities list. Even Enron could not ignore their debts for long! Bank statements will furnish information on loan activity later. You need to pay particular attention to unpaid bills — especially those over 60 days due — and credit card balances. These are the vipers that are poised to strike you.

• Be patriotic. Plan to pay taxes. Family living draws and principal payments on nondepreciable land, family residence or gold bars can (with very few exceptions) only be paid with after-tax dollars. A family with four exemptions spending $50,000 on the above should expect to "render unto the Caesars" of federal, Social Security, state, and local a total of $13,000. If they spend $75,000 or $100,000, they can anticipate tax bills of $22,000 and $32,000, respectively. If exempt from Social Security, the same family would expect tax bills of approximately $7,000, $13,000, and $20,000 at the three levels cited above. To have such levels of these benefits and consistently go to extreme measures to pay lower taxes is called fraud. Using debt to finance tax avoidance can create future economic hardship.

• Enjoy the festivities. Getting a good start on these tasks will help you to have greater joy and peace to face next year with courage and hope.

Second CAFO Permit Deadline Feb. 28

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A second permit application deadline is approaching under the DEP Program for CAFOs. Existing CAFOs with 301 to 1,000 animal equivalent units (AEUs) must apply for National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit coverage by Feb. 28, 2002.

The first NPDES permit deadline for existing CAFOs with more than 1,000 AEUs occurred on May 18. In addition, CAFOs beginning or expanding operations after Nov. 8, 2000, must obtain NPDES permit coverage before beginning these operations. These permit deadlines result from DEP's Nov. 18, 2000, revision of its Chapter 92 NPDES regulations.

CAFOs are large animal agriculture operations with more than 1,000 AEUs, Concentrated Animal Operations (CAOs) with more than 300 AEUs and operations with direct discharges to surface waters. CAOs are operations that fall under the Pennsylvania Nutrient Management Act for having more than two AEUs per acre of suitable cropland. An AEU is equal to 1,000 pounds of live animal weight. Currently, poultry operations that produce dry manure are exempt from CAFO permitting. However, these operations may apply for and obtain CAFO permit coverage.

The following CAFOs operating on or before Nov. 18, 2000, with 301 to 1,000 AEUs must apply for permit coverage by Feb. 28, 2002:

- CAOs in Special Protection watersheds (watersheds that contain high or exceptional quality waters designated by DEP) must apply for an individual NPDES permit; and
- Existing CAOs must apply for general NPDES permit coverage.

Applications and information for CAFO individual permits and general CAFO permit coverage are available from Water Quality Programs in each of DEP's regional offices or through DEP's Website (directLINK "CAFOs"). # Northeast Holstein Members Review Upcoming Year, Nominate Candidates

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — With winter weather just around the corner, Holstein enthusiasts from across the Northeast gathered in Troy last week to make plans for summer shows and to nominate candidates to serve on the Pennsylvania Holstein Association executive board.

The date for the Northeast Holstein Championship show has been slated for Tuesday, Aug. 20, beginning at 10 a.m. The show will return to the Troy Fairgrounds, according to show chairman Lynn Miller. Entry fees will be $10 per head with a late fee of $15.

The Bradford County Junior Holstein Club will sponsor the annual Blueberry Festival the night before the show.

The date for the Northern Tier Holstein Championship Show has yet to be determined.

Pennsylvania Holstein Association (PHA) Executive Secretary Ken Raney noted that there have been several updates in show policy that will apply to this year's show season.

Points for the All-Pennsylvania Awards have been reformulated to reduce the number of ties in the contest. Also, rules for the junior best three females class and the senior best three females class have been amended so that at least one animal in the group must be owned entirely by the exhibitor.

In other business, the members present nominated Ron Wood and Lloyd Pease to serve on the Executive Committee. The member will replace Gordon Wood, whose three-year term has expired. Voting for the position will be conducted at the annual convention in February.

"I'm really proud of the accomplishments of the association in the past few years," said Wood, who noted that the committee has worked hard to improve the financial strength of the association.

Twenty-one members, representing Potter, Tioga, Bradford, and Susquehanna counties, attended the meeting.

Quality Assurance For Cows Important Before They Are Sent Packing

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — Taylor Packing means a lot to the Pennsylvania dairy industry.

About 1,900 head of cattle are processed a day, including about 325,000 cows per year, at the Taylor Packing plant. "Sixty percent are dairy, milking cows," said Celie Myers, quality assurance manager for Taylor Packing, Wyalusing.

Myers spoke last week to more than 200 dairy producers and agri-industry representatives at the 2001 annual Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholders Conference at the Grantville Holiday Inn.

Weekly, the company produces more than four million pounds of fresh ground beef and ships the products worldwide.

"Culled dairy cows make the best ground beef you can find, period," she said.

But Myers is concerned about the cattle being lost because of the lack of basic husbandry. "We are losing cattle before they are even getting to us," she noted.

About 2,600 cattle are lost annually to bovine leukosis; about 700 per year to MDD, or severe emaciation; and another 700 to septicemia. About 5,000 per year are condemned because of other conditions related to animal health.

Myers believes that, in order for the processor to keep tabs during potential traceback, animal identification systems should be "mandatory," she said. That would include verification of source and sale, health records, and other items. Sometimes, "animals go through five cycles of ownership before we get them," she said.

The producer should consider "more timely culling," which would help a great deal in producing quality cuts. She reviewed the major animal issues affecting quality, including bruising and trim losses, injection site damage, arthritis, foreign objects (the company still has to deal with animals with buckshot or surgical implants/needles embedded in them), antibiotic/analgesic residues, and other issues.

Ninety-five percent of cases are first-time violations, noted Myers. And every day, violations occur by "people who sign a certificate who didn't believe there was a problem," according to Myers.

For producers and the industry, keeping a watch for animal health issues that affect public perception will continue to be key.

Northeast Order Uniform Milk Price Announced For November

BOSTON, Mass. — Erik F. Rasmussen, market administrator for the Northeast Marketing Area, has announced that the statistical uniform price paid by milk dealers (handlers) regulated under the Northeast Order for November 2001 is $15.28 per hundredweight ($1.31 per gallon) for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County, Mass. (Boston). The November statistical uniform price is $15.18 for delivery to plants in New York, N.Y., and $15.08 for delivery to plants in Philadelphia, Pa. The statistical uniform price is the benchmark minimum producer blend price paid to dairy farmers, prior to allowable deductions, for milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat, 2.99 percent protein, and 5.69 percent other solids. The price received by an individual dairy farmer will vary as the component composition of a farm's milk differs from the established benchmarks and by the location of the plant(s) to which the farm's milk is delivered.

Rasmussen also stated that the producer price differential (PPD) for November is $3.97 per hundredweight for milk delivered to plants located in Suffolk County. The PPD represents each producer's share of the value generated by the marketwide pool on a hundredweight basis. The PPD, which is added to the payment producers receive for their milk's components, is adjusted for the location of the receiving plant. The statistical uniform price and PPD decrease by scheduled amounts the more distant the plant receiving producer milk is from Suffolk County.

The Class prices for milk pooled in November are as follows: Class I, $19.01 (Suffolk County); Class II, $12.78; Class III, $11.31; and Class IV, $11.97. Comparable prices for November 2000 were: Class I, $15.07; Class II, $13.68; Class III, $8.57; and Class IV price $13.00. The component values for November are protein, $1.8045 per pound; butterfat, $1.4500 per pound; other solids, $0.1470 per pound; and nonfat solids, $0.7949 per pound.

Milk receipts from producers totaled 1.937 billion pounds. Class I utilization, milk processed as beverage milk, was 47.8 percent of producer milk receipts. The average Class I utilization was 49.2 percent in November 2000.

The manufacture of Class II products such as cream, ice cream, yogurt, and cottage cheese utilized 17.4 percent of producer milk. Milk used to manufacture Class III products such as cheese (American and Italian) and evaporated and condensed products utilized 28.6 percent of total milk receipts. Class IV usage (butter, nonfat and whole milk powder) equaled 6.2 percent of the total.

If Phosphorus-Based Nutrient Management Plan Is Adopted, What Does That Mean To Applicators?

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — If the Pennsylvania Nutrient Management Law, or Act 6, will be changed to a "phosphorus-based" program, dairy producers would have to place double the amount of manure down simply to meet nitrogen needs of crops.

In turn, that double-edge approach only "builds our soil phosphorous higher and higher," said Doug Beegle, Penn State soil fertility specialist.

Beegle spoke Wednesday to about three dozen manure hauler personnel and agri-industry representatives at a Penn State-sponsored certification program at the Berks County Ag Center in Leesport.

Beegle addressed the potential impact the changes to Act 6 could bring to the manure application business.

Beegle noted that in the past, researchers believed several assumptions. One of them was that "the only way we lost phosphorus was by erosion," he noted. But there are other ways phosphorus is lost from the soil.

In Pennsylvania, a lot of phosphorus in soils is tied up in stable, inorganic compounds, such as minerals and iron, aluminum, and silicon in clay soils. Erosion can carry phosphorus into streams. So can runoff from excess rainfall.

Another challenge: the vast majority of phosphorus in the soil is tied up in the compounds in the soil, and "very unavailable," Beegle said.

Because phosphorus behaves like a "micronutrient," Beegle said, enough phosphorus has to be present to meet the needs of the crop. A real problem exists, Beegle said. "There are lots of phosphorus, but a very small amount in a form that's available."

Adjusting soil pH to the right levels of 6-7 helps the plants utilize the nutrient. The producer must do a good job of liming, Beegle said.

A problem for dairy farmers is that they will need twice as much land to spread the manure simply to meet the crop nitrogen needs. This will increase phosphorus buildup in the soil.

For poultry manure, simply to balance for phosphorus, producers would need "four times as much land," said Beegle. "That's a big problem."

Beegle said that a crop such as corn needs available phosphorus at two-tenths part per million "all the time." Yet algae buildup in ponds and small streams can be caused by a tenth of that amount.

To manage this problem, research has come up with the "site index" system. If applicators can identify and manage 10 percent of the land that is away from streams and potential runoff, "we can manage 90 percent of the phosphorus," Beegle said.

"The challenge is, where are those areas on the farm? Let's manage those and that will give us flexibility on the other 90 percent."

The site program looks into potential transport of phosphorus through erosion, runoff, pattern drainage, and other factors, and provides a rating. Naturally, a higher rating is gained as long as the application is away from water sources. And the rating and timing of applications are tied up in regular soil testing.

Beegle noted that Act 6 would be up for review within the next year. He's not certain that the State Conservation Commission would decide to plan on phosphorus-based changes to the Act. "But if I had to guess, I think they are," said Beegle. "I think if they go with phosphorus, they will go with the phosphorus index approach.

"I think it is a reasonable way to go in terms of addressing phosphorus," he said.

The key is to provide a review of the plan after its potential adoption to see if it is working. That will provide direction to determine "what's working and what isn't," Beegle said.

In Maryland, a phosphorus-based plan is already in place. Manure from poultry operations is collected at a site and pelletized for use as fertilizer.

Many farms in Pennsylvania receive their feed — and thus their phosphorus — from Midwest feed mills. That cycle has brought phosphorus in the area, where it stands. Experts believe the cycle of retransporting the phosphorus back, perhaps in terms of fertilizer or even fuel, could be a solution for producers in the region.

Tioga County Agricultural Banquet Reviews Achievements

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Tioga Co. Correspondent

WHITNEYVILLE (Tioga Co.) — In celebration of agricultural achievements, the 20th annual Tioga County Agricultural Banquet provided a forum to honor outstanding youth, farmers, and volunteers.

The Tioga County Extension Service and the Tioga County Conservation District teamed up to present awards for years of service and dedication to the programs each sponsors.

Named the Extension Cooperator of the Year was Larry Dugan of Dugan Tractor. Tioga County Extension Agent Craig Williams presented the award to Dugan, noting that he and the other workers at the dealership are always willing to help out with various events by offering the use of equipment.

"We appreciate all he does for us," Williams said.

The Extension Family Award was presented to Leland and Laura Rouse and family for their many years of involvement in extension programs.

Also honored at the banquet were eight outstanding 4-H'ers who each received an engraved 4-H silver medallion. Charlie Moyer and Talia Sepiol were named the outstanding rookies, Levi Miller and Sarah Tinney were honored as outstanding clover members, Daren Hopkins and Kaitlynn Johnson received the outstanding junior awards, and Tim Heyler and Carissa Ganong were named the outstanding senior 4-H members.

Shirley Bixby, regional director of Susquehanna Region Cooperative Extension and Outreach, spoke about new developments within the region and explained that the agents across the Northern Tier work as a team. She also reminded those in attendance that 2002 marks the 100th anniversary of 4-H. A Bradford Basket is being developed in honor of the anniversary and there will be ongoing conversations about what today's youth need, which will culminate at the national level.

Extension Agent Earle Robbins was recognized as receiving both state and national distinguished service awards in 2001. He also received a 20-year service award.

Dawn Bowers received recognition for her 30 years of service as an adviser with the Expanded Food and Nutrition Program (EFNEP), and 4-H Program Specialist Lee Hoar was thanked for his 10 years of service.

Kathy Monks, who has served as the secretary in the Tioga County office of 37 years, was named Epsilon Sigma Pi Secretary of the Year.

Don Chamberlain and family were recognized as the 2001 Outstanding Farm Cooperator from the Tioga County Conservation District. The farm, located in Sullivan Township, consists of 165 acres of cropland.

"They have made a special effort to conserve natural resources on their farm," said William Smith, who presented the family with a framed aerial photograph of their farm.

Receiving service awards for the conservation district were Walter Barnes, Steve Smith, and Tom Brown. Ralph Bruger was also honored for being with the conservation district for more than 15 years.

In addition to honoring groups and individuals, James Weaver, Tioga County's coordinator for Non-point Education for Municipal Officials (NEMO), challenged those gathered to look toward the future.

"One of the most important issues in the state is land use," he said. "Less than 50 percent of the boroughs and townships in Pennsylvania have any land use planning."

Because Rt. 15 as it runs through Tioga County will one day be part of Interstate 99, Weaver said that steps need to be taken now to insure that we have a plan for the growth that will inevitably take place.

"You have to have a vision. Look at what the area will look like 100 years from now and beyond," said Weaver.

Since the NEMO program is a relatively new venture, Weaver is in the early stages of the planning process. There are NEMO programs in 17 other states and the program has been successful. Land use planning and the efficient use of natural resources are the main objectives of the program.

"We need to build a vision for a better community," said Weaver.

Top Wayne County DHIA Producers Honored

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The Wayne County affiliate of Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association (Pa. D.H.I.A.) Dairy One conducted its annual meeting and dinner on Wednesday, Dec. 5.

Wayne County D.H.I.A./Dairy One completed its 75th year as of Sept. 30, with 72 herds on test represented by 3,848 cows. These herds had an average milk production of 17,691 pounds of milk per cow, 3.62 percent butterfat test, 640 pounds of butterfat per cow, 3.07 percent protein test and 543 pounds of protein per cow. Average income over feed costs was $1,808 per cow. Average Wayne County herd size was 53.4 cows.

Production awards for the 2000-2001 testing year were announced. They included:

• High Herd For Milk, Butterfat and Protein Production: Rowe Brothers, Honesdale, with 27,090 pounds of milk, 1,037 pounds of butterfat and 806 pounds of protein.

• High Herd For Mixed Breeds For Milk and Protein Production: Rock Ridge Farm (Ray and Garry Rutledge), Honesdale, with 18,148 pounds of milk and 578 pounds of protein.

• High Herd For Mixed Breeds For Butterfat Production: Charles M. Keating Jr., Lake Ariel, with 674 pounds of butterfat.

• High Herd For Protein Breeds For Milk, Butterfat and Protein Production: Chuck and Amy Theobald, Waymart, with 15,277 pounds of milk, 700 pounds of butterfat and 558 pounds of protein.

• High Cow For Milk Production: Eroh Dairy, Pleasant Mount, with 38,445 pounds of milk produced by cow 204.

• High Cow For Protein Production: Eroh Dairy, Pleasant Mount, with 1,045 pounds of protein produced by Marie.

• High Cow For Butterfat Production: Rowe Brothers, Honesdale, with 1,582 pounds of butterfat produced by Primrose.

• High Lifetime Cow For Milk and Protein Production: Highland Farm (Bill and Debbie Bryant), Honesdale, with 230,228 pounds of milk and 7,205 pounds of protein produced in seven lactations by Polly.

• High Lifetime Cow For Butterfat Production: Dave and Sheila Banicky, Thompson, with 8,273 pounds of butterfat in eight lactations produced by Flo.

• High Quality Milk Award: James Slocum, Susquehanna, with 115,000 average somatic cell count for testing year.

• Pennsylvania D.H.I.A./Dairy One Herd Management Award:

Third place: Alton C. Olver, Honesdale.

• Top protein herds:

Eroh Dairy, Pleasant Mount, 766 pounds of protein per cow; Ryan C. Wilmarth, Lake Ariel, 731 pounds of protein per cow; Kevin and Gerarda Burleigh, Pleasant Mount, 726 pounds of protein per cow.

Guest speaker was Dr. Bhushan Jayarao, extension veterinarian, Penn State Department of Veterinary Science. Dr. Jayarao discussed bovine mastitis and why it costs dairymen so much economic loss. Dr. Jayarao identified the health concerns of mastitis, what causes mastitis, the source of mastitis causing bacteria, types of bacteria, how infection occurs in the cow's udder, somatic cells, mastitis during the dry period and early lactation, prevention and control of mastitis during the early dry period and calving, dry cow mastitis program and dry cow antibiotic therapy, milking equipment as a source of mastitis infections, milking sanitation, and mastitis and milking quality tests such as standard plate count, preliminary incubation count, laboratory pasteurization count, coliform count and somatic cell count.

Technicians serving Wayne County member herds of Pennsylvania D.H.I.A./Dairy One are: Linda Wagner, Moscow; Steve Kammer, Hawley; Charles Cottrell, Thompson; Carolyn Cottrell, Thompson; and Gary Williams, Starrucca, also serving as district manager for Pa. D.H.I.A./Dairy One.

North American Hereford Show

LOUISVILLE, KY — The 28th North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) hosted more than 61 classes during the Hereford Show Nov. 13 in Louisville, KY. Two hundred and thirty four head of Hereford cattle were exhibited. Chad Breeding, Miami, Texas evaluated the horned and polled entries and John Tucker, North Platte, Neb., judged the combined junior show on Nov. 11.

Pork Producers Strive to Fight Diseases, Protect Farms

DES MOINES, Iowa — Pork producers and swine health specialists from across the United States recently met to discover ways to keep their animals healthy and disease-free. They gathered as members of the National Pork Board's Swine Health Committee during the 2001 Unified Research Meeting, which was sponsored by the National Pork Board.

The committee met to review research proposals relating to Porcine Respiratory Disease Complex, breeding herd syndromes, enteric disease syndromes, emerging diseases and syndromes, segregated early weaning disease issues, and biosecurity. Out of the 33 project proposals received in the swine health area, 13 were selected to submit to the National Pork Board for funding with checkoff dollars.

Jim Niewold, pork producer from Loda, Ill., and chair of the Swine Health Committee, said the committee was pleased with the quality of proposals received and selected projects that matched the committee's research priorities.

"Discovering ways to maintain and improve herd health is at the top of the minds of most producers, Niewold said. "Especially with the renewed threat of foreign animal disease and bioterrorism, protecting our country's swine herd is more important than ever."

In addition to awarding funding to researchers, the committee also discussed the progress of the National Pseudorabies Eradication Program, efforts against Porcine Reproductive and Respiratory Syndrome virus, and steps towards protecting the national swine herd from foreign animal diseases.

The Swine Health Committee joined four other National Pork Board committees reviewing proposals in the areas of pork safety, pork quality, human nutrition and environmental issues during the Unified Research Meeting. The joint meeting was an opportunity to coordinate research efforts and share information.

"The Unified Research Meeting brings together the best and brightest minds in the pork industry. It allows producers to communicate their needs to veterinarians, processors and packers.

"It also allows these allied industries to share their knowledge with producers," Niewold said. "One of the most exciting things that happens at this meeting is we have the opportunity to review research projects that will directly impact farms in the years to come. We're working with scientists to improve swine health, pork safety and the consumer pork product."

The committees selected 46 projects they will recommend the National Pork Board approve for funding with pork producers' checkoff investments. Researchers will be notified of their proposals' approval, conduct the research and work with the National Pork Board to share results with pork producers.

For more information on these checkoff-funded programs, check the Internet at www.porkboard.org or call 515-223-2600.

Lancaster Farmland Trust Adds New Board Members

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The board of Lancaster Farmland Trust has announced the addition of three new board members, one addition to the senior advisory council, and two departures from the board.

The three new board members are William Hoffman, Terry Kauffman, and Jeremiah Sullivan Jr.

Bill Hoffman was born and raised in York. After graduating from Franklin and Marshall College in 1969, he moved to New Rochelle, N.Y. A former vice president of Spencer Weart Assoc., a consulting firm that does market research for banks, Hoffman has also been a travel writer. During the 1970s, he was the president and co-founder of the Greater N.Y. coalition for bicycling, and in 1982 was appointed to the Governor's traffic safety council.

Since returning to Lancaster County in 1990, Hoffman has participated in many state and local bicycle and pedestrian advisory committees, and is the interim director of the League of American Bicyclists. He was a member of a PennDOT study group that studied the Route 30 corridor, and is also part of the Route 23 Environmental Impact Study. He has been involved with the Trust for a number of years as a member, and as a volunteer for Pedal to Preserve, the Trust's annual bicycle fundraising event.

Terry Kauffman graduated from Penn State University in 1970, with a degree in agriculture business. He served as Lancaster County commissioner, chair from 1996-1999, and is currently manager/ authority administrator for the Borough of Mount Joy.

Last year Kauffman served as executive director of the Berks County Conservancy. Prior to that he served as director of land planning for the conservancy.

Kauffman's community involvement includes serving on the West Cocalico Township Zoning Hearing Board and West Cocalico Township Planning Commission, of which he was chair from 1990-1992. Other professional boards on which he has participated are Lancaster MPO, chair; Lancaster County Conservation District Board; County Commissioners Association, president; National Assn. of Counties, Energy, Environment, Land Use Commission, chair; and the NACO Smart Growth Committee, chair. He currently serves as chair of 10,000 Friends of Pennsylvania Statewide Land Use Coalition and the Lancaster Transportation Authority, and is a member of the City of Reading Intergovernmental Committee.

Since 1989, Kauffman has been the owner and president of Tercan, Inc. and was owner and president of Reinholds Lumber and Supply for seven years in the 1980s. He and his wife reside in Reinholds.

Jere Sullivan was born and raised in Lancaster where he attended the Franklin & Marshall Academy. After graduating from the LaSalle Military Academy in Oakdale, N.Y., he served in the U.S. Naval Reserve during World War II. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Franklin & Marshall College in 1948. Sullivan's first job out of college was in the marketing/media department of the New Holland Machine Co. He was vice president, sales and marketing for the Synthane Taylor Corporation until his retirement in the late '80s. He volunteers for the Lancaster Regional Medical Center and the School District of Lancaster.

Sullivan returned to Lancaster in early '90s after residing in suburban Philadelphia, New Hampshire and California for a 40-year period.

He is the father of five children, all but one of whom live within a 60-mile radius of Lancaster.

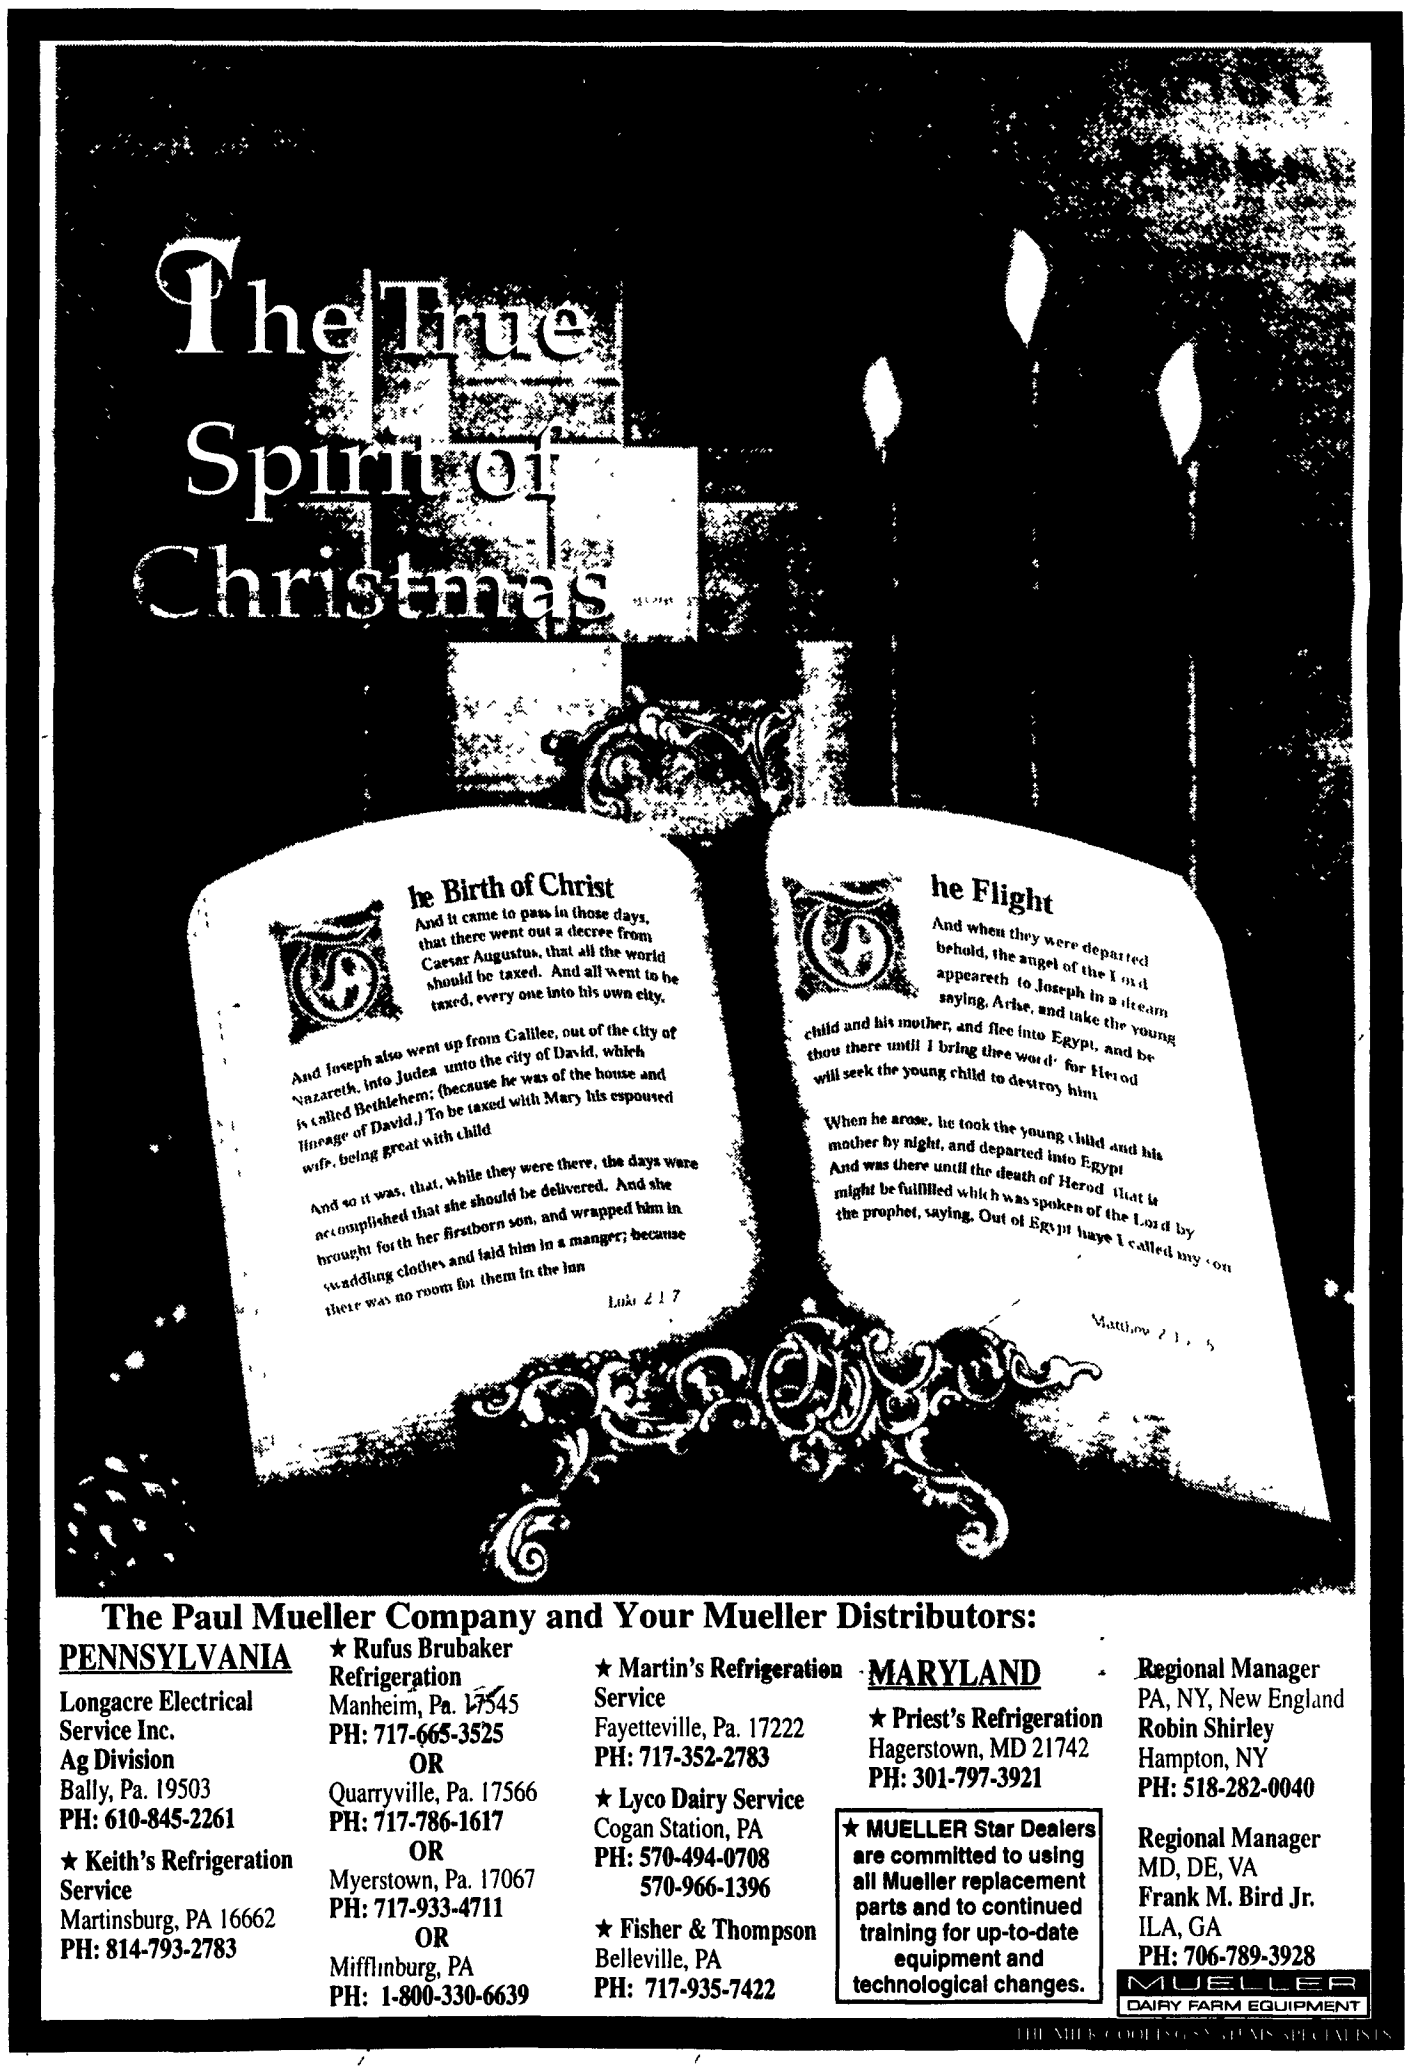
Sullivan has served on the board of the Historic Preservation Trust of Lancaster County and volunteered at The Heritage Center Museum of Lancaster County. A member of The Hamilton Club of Lancaster, he is president of the Steeple House Square Condominium Association.

Dan Sweigart has been named to the Senior Advisory Council of Lancaster Farmland Trust. He has been a Trust member and volunteer since 1990, and currently works in quality control for Hershey Foods. At a special board meeting and holiday gathering at the Landis Valley Museum visitor's center, Sweigart was introduced by former LFT board president and current honorary trustee Darvin Boyd, as a new Senior Advisory Council member

Sweigart, expressed thanks to the board for his appointment, and talked about his concern for the future of Lancaster County farmland, the most productive, non-irrigated farmland in the country. "We've made progress in the area of farmland preservation, but there's still so much that needs to be done," he said. "Sixty percent of the development in the county is occurring outside of the Urban Growth Boundaries," he added.

Over 40,000 acres of farmland have been preserved in the county, but it is the Trust's belief that 300,000 acres of farmland (of the 600,000 total acres of land in Lancaster County) should be preserved.

After serving on the Trust's board for two terms, Paul Whipple and Jeffrey Frey will complete their board service at the end of this year. Whipple and Frey were both members of the Trust's Executive Committee, and Frey, a Pequea Township farmer, is the outgoing chair of the Land Preservation Committee. They received the Distinguished Service Award at the Trust's November annual dinner at Millersville University's Bolger Conference Center. Because of his role in founding the organization, Whipple has been named an Honorary Trustee for the Trust.



The True Spirit of Christmas
he Birth of Christ
And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.
And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:) To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child
And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn

And when they were departed behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him
When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt
And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son

The association will be discussing the 2002 Southeast Regional Championship Show and other show activities in the region. They will also be reviewing the sale activity in the region and other topics.

Discussion will also center on the southeast district hosting the 2003 State Convention. Ideas and volunteers will be needed for this undertaking.

Any Pennsylvania Holstein member from the southeast region is invited to attend this important meeting

Holstein Northwest District To Meet

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — The Northwest District of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, including the counties of Clarion, Clearfield, Crawford, Erie, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Venango, and Warren, will meet Friday, Jan. 18, at 11 a.m. at the Howard Johnson's Motor Inn, Rts. 19 and 80, near Mercer.

The association will be discussing the 2002 Northwest Regional Championship Show and other show activities in the region. They will also be reviewing the sale activity in the region and discuss other important topics.

Any Pennsylvania Holstein member from the northwest region is invited to attend.

Pa. Grazing, Forage Conference, Others Set

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The planning committees from the Pennsylvania Grazing and Forage Conference, The Northwest Grazing Conference, and Bradford and Tioga Grazing Conference met earlier in the year to plan a central theme for all three conferences.

In the process of deciding on the theme, the combined group of planners decided to invite Charlie Opitz of Mineral Point, Wis. as their main speaker to focus attention on large-herd grazing.

Opitz is a dairy producer who grazes 1,200 lactating cows on a 3,000-acre grazing system. His farm is located in southern Wisconsin, about 40 miles west of Madison. He manages more than 100 paddocks in his grazing system.

Opitz insists that "you have to understand your grasses and how they grow." His pastures comprise a diverse mixture of grasses and legumes, which have developed as a result of his intensive management.

He fertilizes his pastures routinely throughout the grazing season and overseeds them regularly. Opitz will be bringing his large cowherd grazing experience to Pennsylvania to help us understand that grazing is not just for the small herd owner.

In addition to having Opitz at each conference, each will have a battery of different speakers to address various other grazing topics. Many of these topics have been requested by producers who attended past year's conferences.

The conferences are all planned and all the specifics are set. The Northwest Grazing Conference will lead off on March 5 at the Ramada Inn in DuBois. The Pennsylvania Grazing and Forage Conference will happen next on March 6-7 at the Holiday Inn in Grantville. The Bradford and Tioga Grazing Conference will finish the circuit on March 8 at the Fire Hall in Troy.

For registration forms or information, contact Gary Swope at (814) 375-2125 for the Northwest Grazing Conference; Duane Pysher at (717) 237-2221 for the Pennsylvania Grazing Conference; or Craig Williams, (570) 724-9120, for the Bradford and Tioga Grazing Conference.

National Youth Horse Leader's Symposium January 25-27

ROCK HILL, S.C. — The American Youth Horse Council's 25th National Youth Horse Leader's Symposium will be held at the Rock Hill Holiday Inn in Rock Hill, S.C.

This 25th anniversary event brings together youth leaders from all riding disciplines to share their collective voices and help shape the equine industry.

The symposium attracts leaders from breed associations, equine sport organizations, extension service, universities, and the crucially important "hands-on" youth leaders from such groups as 4-H, U.S. Pony Club, National High School Rodeo, FFA, and many more.

Symposium events begin Friday evening and run throughout the weekend with roundtable discussions, lecture-style presentations, live horse demonstrations, and trade show exhibits.

Topics include innovative programs for teaching horse management and care, the impact of horse activities on academic performance, equine industry career opportunities, riding safety, funding equine programs, developing horse and rider partnerships, youth issue roundtables, "horseless" horse projects, and more.

Anyone with an interest in youth and the horse industry is welcome to attend. The conference is arranged with presentation tracks to target the interests of three audiences: youth leaders, adult leaders, and equine industry professionals.

Register by calling 800-879-2942 or by email ayhc@mindspring.com . Registration fees for the National Youth Horse Leader's Symposium: Non AYHC Members $85.00 AYHC Members $65.00 Youth Teen Leader Participants (Ages 14 to 19 only) $35.00 (Made payable to the American Youth Horse Council, should be postmarked before Dec. 27)

The Symposium is being held January 25th to 27th at the Rock Hill Holiday Inn at 2640 N. Cherry Road, Rock Hill SC, 29730.

Historic Farmland Preservation Accomplishments

Record-Breaking 309 Farms Preserved In 2001

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania continues to lead the nation in farmland preservation.

At the State Farmland Preservation Board meeting in December, the Schweiker administration announced that Pennsylvania had a record-breaking year in farmland preservation. Three hundred and nine farms were preserved in 2001.

The Farmland Preservation Board also approved the addition of Bradford and Huntingdon counties into the Pennsylvania Farmland Preservation Program, bringing the total number of counties participating to 53.

"Farmland Preservation is proof positive of the success of 'Growing Greener'," announced Gov. Mark Schweiker. "Thanks to the 'Growing Greener' program, we are able to preserve more Pennsylvania farms than ever before. Pennsylvania takes great pride in its agricultural heritage and we need to take every step to preserve it for future generations."

"Growing Greener" is Pennsylvania's historic commitment to the environment and open space. About $650 million over five years, including $100 million in farmland preservation, is devoted into Pennsylvania's largest-ever environmental investment.

"Pennsylvania has responded to the call for preserving our prime agricultural land. Pennsylvania leads the nation in the preservation of farmland.

"Through the hard work and dedication of the state preservation board, county preservation boards, state lawmakers, and farmers, we have broken yet another farmland preservation record, an all-time high of 309 farms preserved in one year," said Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes. "I am also pleased to welcome Bradford and Huntingdon counties into the State Preservation Program."

At the December meeting, 22 farms totaling 2,810 acres were approved for preservation by the State Preservation Board. Since 1989, Pennsylvania has preserved a total 1,785 farms totaling 215,243 acres across Pennsylvania.

The State Farmland Preservation Board purchases development rights, referred to as easements, to safeguard Pennsylvania's pristine farmland for future generations.

Hayes noted, "When we preserve a farm, not only do we preserve open space but we also preserve productivity of farmland, which helps sustain the food needs of our people."

In February 2001, Pennsylvania's farmland preservation efforts were recognized by the American Farmland Trust, as the national leader in farmland preservation with more farmland preserved than any other state in the nation. Continuing the preservation charge, Pennsylvania observed its 200,000-acre milestone in August at Ag Progress Days in Rockspring.

To further assist farmers and landowners with the tax planning on farmland preservation easements, the Installment Purchase Agreement Program allows landowners to defer capital gains taxes, allowing the county preservation programs to use funding towards the preservation of other farms. The State Farmland Preservation Board approved the first two farms into the Installment Purchase Agreement Program in 2001.

To assist counties with their farmland preservation efforts, the Land Trust Reimbursement Grant Program provides up to $5,000 to reimburse Land Trusts for the costs of acquiring agricultural easements. Currently 15 Land Trusts participate in the Land Trust Reimbursement Grant Program.

To learn more about Pennsylvania's nation-leading Farmland Preservation Program, visit the Department of Agriculture's Homepage through the Pennsylvania PowerPort at www.state.pa.us or directly at www.pda.state.pa.us.

Following is a listing of farms approved for preservation, listed by county including owner, municipality, acres, and easement purchase price.

Franklin County Dairy Day Set

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Franklin County Dairy Day will be conducted on Friday, Jan. 4 at Kauffman's Community Center, Chambersburg.

Program topics include dairy cattle nutrition, cow comfort and environmental rules/regulations. Speakers will be Jud Heinrichs, Charles Abdalla, and Dan McFarland of Penn State. A panel of dairy producers will discuss their experiences with managing a Hispanic workforce.

Agri-business firms will cosponsor the educational meeting and have exhibits on display. Area dairy producers are invited to arrive at 8:45 a.m. to visit the exhibits and have refreshments. The formal program begins at 9:30 a.m. with adjournment scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Kauffman's Community Center is located in the village of Kauffman Station which lies between I-81 and U.S. 11, about nine miles south of Chambersburg and four miles north of Greencastle. It is about two miles south of the Marion Exit (10) of I-81. The easiest approach is to turn east off U.S. 11 at Crossroads Dairy Farms, located four miles north of Greencastle. Follow signs to Community Center.

For further information contact Philip Wagner, extension dairy agent at (717) 263-9226.

A Dry Cow Booster That Costs 7¢ a Day

Hoffmans Horse and Cattle Powder is an ideal tonic for cows over freshening. Feed 6 wks. before freshening. 1 Tablespoon a day. (Two weeks over freshening, feed 1 Tablespoon in the morning & 1 Tablespoon in evening)

Cows will clean better after freshening. Cows have a lower somatic cell count and will have less mastitus problems. Great for reproduction tract and cows will cycle better after freshening. Will help rumen function over freshing. Less feet problems and less stress.

This is an over-all good booster if fed to dry cows, and it will pay you big dividends.

OSU Extension To Sponsor Direct Marketing Conference Trip

MARIETTA, Ohio - Direct marketing is gaining popularity across North America, both from farmers to increase profitability and from consumers who want to receive fresh, local products.

Ohio State University Extension offices in Licking, Meigs and Washington counties are giving Ohio farmers the opportunity to network and exchange information with other farmers and Extension agents across the country by sponsoring the trip to the North American Farmers Direct Marketing Association (NAFDMA) annual conference and trade show. The event will be held Jan. 16-19, 2002 in Toronto, Canada.

NAFDMA is an organization formed by farmers to assist other farmers across the country in directly marketing their products, whether it'd be beef, vegetable or greenhouse products.

Transportation and hotel lodging for three nights (based on double occupancy) is $185 and conference registration is $125. It is cheaper for NAFDMA members. Participants are recommended to allow for about $100 for meals and incidentals.

Topics on the conference agenda include a trade show and workshops on farmers' markets, rural tourism, advanced markets, specialties and on-farm functions. The conference will also include featured presentations and speakers.

For more information on the conference log on to http://www.nafdma.com. For more information regarding the trip, contact the Marietta County office of Ohio State Extension at (740) 376-7431.

USDA Grants $90,000 To Best Milk Cooperative

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — Byron Ross, state director for Pennsylvania USDA Rural Development, recently joined local officials in presenting a $90,000 check to Best Milk Cooperative which operates Pure Country Dairy. David Duncan, cooperative president, said the funds, part of USDA's Value-added Agricultural Product Market Development program (VADG), will be used to increase the coop's market for fresh milk.

The primary objective of USDA's VADG program is to increase farm income by adding value to farm commodities and to encourage agricultural commodities producers to further refine their products, ultimately increasing their product's value to the end users. VADG grants can be used to conduct feasibility analyses, develop business plans, develop marketing plans, or conduct other types of studies to help establish a viable agricultural business venture.

"The food and energy products derived from raw agricultural commodities will allow producers to realize greater economic benefit from what they produce. Agriculture remains the cornerstone of America's rural economy and it is important to develop new markets for agricultural products," said Ross.

USDA, Rural Development administers a variety of community and economic development programs; such as technical assistance for community development, financial programs for water and waste water treatment plants, loans to purchase fire trucks and build day care centers; loans and guarantees to rural businesses to save or create jobs, and loans to individuals for the purchase, construction, or repair of homes.

For more information on the programs offered by Rural Development, contact the Pennsylvania State Office at (717) 237-2186 or visit their Website at www.rurdev.usda.gov/pa.

Beef Council Wraps Up Year With Banquet, Meeting In Grantville

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Beef Council (PBC) brought 2001 to a close with an annual meeting and banquet at the Holiday Inn Grantville.

The event drew 90 producers.

Sam Hayes, Pennsylvania agriculture secretary, gave an update on Farm Show construction and the livestock evaluation center. He also highlighted the state's animal health seminars conducted because of a need for biosecurity.

Hayes presented a $125,000 check to board members.

Approximately $100,000 is earmarked for the Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) program with another $25,000 going toward a veal marketing initiative. According to Carrie Bomgardner, PBC promotions director, part of the money has already been used in retail and consumer channels.

In the retail end, veal has been featured in store demos. PBC employees have also worked at consumer shows, handing out veal samples and recipes. The program has already moved 135 incremental cases of veal cutlets over the feature period in November.

Defining The Industry

Mark Thomas, National Cattlemen's Beef Association vice president of consumer marketing, Denver, Colo., spoke about the growing relevance of beef for consumers. Thomas, who has worked in the industry for about 30 years, said, "I've seen more days in the last 24 months than I have in the first 24 years — and most of it is positive," he said.

Until September, beef exports showed an increase for the past 26 years. In addition, consumer confidence in beef safety has also risen.

Also their attitudes about nutrition have improved because of the dietician seminars and advertising. "You have to stay in the nutrition game forever," said Thomas.

The Beef Made Easy program, designed for consumer convenience, is now in 11,000 stores across the country.

Thomas also showed several television advertisements which will be broadcast again beginning in January.

"We're using a world-class ad agency," he said. "Advertising is expensive, but if we are going to be in the food marketing business, we need to have a world-class ad agency that's passionate about beef."

Blueprint Update

Paul Slayton, PBC executive director, gave an update on the organizations' "Blueprint for Success" program, formerly conducted in partnership with Penn State.

"After our last board meeting it was the charge of the board to set up a meeting with Penn State to see if we could get continued support from them," said Slayton.

After the meeting with Penn State, "the decision was made to try to set up a meeting with Smithfield Packing representatives. This is a process that's going forward very gradually."

John Comerford, Penn State extension beef specialist, added "the program will continue. For producers that want information

Arborist Short Course Planned For NE Pa.

WEST PITTSTON (Luzerne Co.) — Today there is an increased awareness by homeowners and municipalities for the need of trained and knowledgeable tree care workers. The green industry has responded to this demand for trained professionals by creating certification programs. Presently there are thousands of arborists that are certified by the International Society of Arboriculture, and horticulturists certified by Landscape and Nurseyman Associations. These numbers continue to grow each year.

Penn State Cooperative Extension and the Northeast Pennsylvania Community Tree Association have developed an Arborist Short Course: Integrated Management of Woody Ornaments. This short course for tree workers and landscapers is designed to increase working tree knowledge, professional arborist skills and prepare you for the ISA Certified Arborist exam, which should improve your marketability.

The Arborist Short Course is designed to address these relevant topics: diagnosis of plant diseases and insect pests; nutrition and fertilization; selection; installation and establishment of trees and shrubs; soil and water interaction and management; plant identification; assessment and risk management; pruning; construction impacts and management; safety and climbing.

The Arborist Short Course covers five half-day classes Friday afternoons Jan. 4 through Feb. 1, 2002 with a registration fee of $65. The course will be conducted at Penn State Wilkes-Barre in Lehman, Pa. Class size is limited and pre-registration is required by Dec. 28. All participants will receive a copy of the ISA Arborists' Certification Study Guide (a $95 value) and other printed materials. For more information about this short course or to receive a flyer, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension at (570) 825-1701 or (570) 602-0600.

about custom feeding or BQA issues there will be workshops this winter for those that need the information we provide."

Year-End Wrapup

Paul Slayton summarized the activities of PBC staff in 2001. Beginning in January, with involvement in the Farm Show, staff gave out samples of beef and supplied resources to five different stations at the Farm Show Complex.

Approximately 19,000 veal meatballs were served in the marketplace, said Slayton.

Also early in the year the staff conducted Beef 201 and Beef 202 seminars. Beef 201 focused on educating producers while staff used Beef 202 to teach foodservice personnel about beef nutrition and cooking.

In March was the "Book and the Cook" show, a cookbook event where staff served precooked beef and gave coupons to 6,000 Philadelphia consumers.

Springtime also brought the council for Women's Nutritional Solutions' seminar, which council staff attended and supplied information for.

May brought a TV media tour where beef was featured in cooking spots for local news stations.

A blood drive effort at Harrisburg East Mall was "based on the fact that most people that are turned down to donate blood are turned down because they have low iron," said Slayton. Everyone who attempted to donate got a steak sandwich. The blood drive was followed by a similar event in Wayne County.

More than 400 producers have been certified in the BQA program which began in June. Twenty classroom and 18 chute-side programs were conducted.

"And we're not done, we're just getting started," said Slayton. "Our goal this year is to double the number of people and go after dairy producers, hoping that we can put them through our program."

In August a coupon drop for Taco Bell promotion for the grilled steak taco reached thousands of consumers. Also in August staff distributed information to producers at Ag Progress Days.

The fall brought September, food safety month, and school visits to Erie. October followed with veal month and "Chef Charlie's Veal Tour," which hit news shows, a Veal 101 seminar, a restaurant menuing award for veal, and a gourmet tour in Atlantic City.

Extension seminars educated producers in November. Also in November Giant Eagle grocery stores featured and gave out samples of veal, helping to move product.

Also in November a recipe contest to promote whole recipe cuts was launched in Lancaster Farming. Results will be published in early January issues.

Farmers Dispute

pensation for any harms caused by corporate farming may be difficult to obtain through a corporation and that corporations have fewer reasons to respect the natural environment and township communities than do natural persons."

The lawsuit claims that statement to be "unlawfully discriminatory and violative of the U.S. and Pennsylvania constitutions," and charges that the township did develop a proper record to support it.

Other claims made by the lawsuit against the legality of the ordinance include:

- The township does not have the authority under Pennsylvania's township code to prohibit or regulate corporate ownership or operation of farmland or farming operations.
- The regulation illegally interferes with business and contractual relations.
- The regulation is preempted by Pennsylvania's Nutrient Management Law.
- The regulation conflicts with and is preempted by Pennsylvania's Business Corporation Law.

At the heart of the lawsuit's claim against the water regulation ordinance is Garrison's assertion that the township's authority to control non-municipal water supplies is preempted by state law and by the authority of interstate watershed agencies.

The lawsuit also claims that the ordinance does not provide for due process of law and that "the 3,000-gallon cutoff is arbitrary and unsupported."

According to Kristen Wolf, spokesperson for the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), the state has no law in place to govern private water withdrawal. Disputes over local water regulations ultimately need to be resolved in court at this point, she said.

However, legislation has been proposed that would give the DEP authority to monitor and regulate the state's water supplies, Wolf said.

Garrison charged that all three ordinances adopted by Belfast Township are unconstitutional and vague.

According to Belfast Township Secretary Paula Shives this week, the three-member board of supervisors was seeking counsel and unable to comment on the case.

Carlton Walker, Belfast Township solicitor, also declined comment.

Shives said that no zoning laws designating land use are in place in Belfast Township, which has a population of about 1,300 people.

The township has been given until the second week in January to respond to the lawsuit.

In agricultural litigation last year, an ordinance in Granville Township, Bradford County was overturned in court.

The ordinance to regulate the permitting process on ag operations was judged to be preempted by Pennsylvania's Nutrient Management Act.

Celebrate FESTIVE FEASTS

Start with a golden turkey or succulent roast seasoned and cooked to perfection. Add a host of savory side dishes and a delectable dessert or two. The result: a festive feast for any gathering!

Accompany these festive holiday meats with a simple, but elegant, Potato Gorgonzola Gratin or introduce your holiday feasts with impressive Bacon and Crab Stuffed Potato Bites. Potatoes also add creamy consistency to holiday cakes and candies such as the sensational Peanut Butter Potato Truffles or the scrumptious Lite Mashed Colorado Potato Cheesecake.

These elegant presentations and simple preparations leave you time to Celebrate your own Festive Feasts with the most important ingredients of all... family and friends!

Peanut Butter Potato Truffles, Potato Gorgonzola Gratin and Golden Roasted Turkey

Standing Rib Roast With a Pepper Cap

Seasoning Mix
- 5 tablespoons meat seasoning
- 2 teaspoons dried, ground chile peppers
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon dried, ground chile peppers
- 1 teaspoon dried, ground Ancho chile peppers

Ingredients
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 3 cups (about 2 medium) chopped onions
- 3 cups (1 cup each) green, yellow and red bell pepper
- 2 cups (about 2 stalks) chopped celery
- 3 tablespoons (about 9 cloves) minced fresh garlic
- 3 tablespoons minced fresh ginger
- 2 1/4 cups diced, fresh chile peppers, your favorite (poblano, jalapeño, serrano, etc.)
- 1/2 cup beef stock
- 1/4 cup cane syrup preferred, or pure maple syrup
- 1 cup loosely packed cilantro leaves
- 1 (8–9 pound, 4 ribs) standing rib roast, trimmed of excess fat

Combine seasoning mix ingredients in a small bowl and mix well.

In a heavy 4-quart pot over high heat, heat the oil just until it begins to smoke, about 3 minutes. Add the onions, bell peppers and celery. Cook, stirring every 3 minutes, for 15 minutes, then add the garlic, ginger, chile peppers and 3 tablespoons of the seasoning mix. Cook, stirring and scraping every 3 or 4 minutes, until the mixture sticks hard to the bottom, about 10 minutes. Stir in the stock and scrape well. Cook for 5 minutes; then add the cane syrup and cilantro. Cook, stirring every 5 minutes, until the mixture is well browned, about 10 minutes.

Cut pockets in the top of the roast, about 1 inch deep and 3/4 inch apart. Season the top of the roast evenly with the remaining seasoning mix, while working some into the pockets with your fingers. Spread the reserved vegetable mixture evenly over the top of the roast, while also working some into the pockets. Place the roast in a large roasting pan, standing up so that it's resting on its rack of ribs. Roast at 300°F until the internal temperature of the meat reaches 125°F, about 3 hours.

Peanut Butter Potato Truffles

(55–60 pieces)
- 1 cup mashed, unseasoned potatoes
- 1 cup smooth peanut butter
- 5–6 cups powdered sugar, sifted
- 1 (6-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 4 (1-ounce) squares semi-sweet chocolate, chopped
- 2 teaspoons vegetable shortening (no substitutions!)
- Chopped nuts or colored sprinkles, optional

Beat mashed potatoes and peanut butter on high until well blended. Beat in sugar (1 cup at a time) until stiff. Dough should be smooth. Roll dough into balls. Cover and chill several hours.

For chocolate covering: Heat chocolate pieces and chopped pieces and shortening over low heat, stirring until melted. Dip each ball into chocolate, allowing chocolate to drip off. Decorate with nuts or sprinkles, if desired. (Cocoa powder or powdered sugar work well also.) Place on rack or waxed paper. Chill to harden.

Bacon and Crab Stuffed Potato Bites

(24 appetizers) 425°F preheated oven
- 12 small red potatoes
- 3 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 3 teaspoons seafood seasoning
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 4 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup shredded Swiss or cheddar cheese
- 4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 6 ounces cooked crabmeat, flaked
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions

Bake potatoes until tender, 30–40 minutes. Let stand until cool. Cut potatoes in half. Scoop out small amount of potato from each half. Place potatoes cut side up in lightly oiled roasting pan. Combine 2 tablespoons mustard, 1 teaspoon Seafood Magic and olive oil; mix well. Brush tops of potatoes with mustard mixture. Place back in oven 10–15 minutes until lightly browned.

For filling: Combine cream cheese, cheese, bacon, crabmeat, 1 tablespoon mustard and 2 teaspoons Seafood Magic, green onions and mix lightly to blend. Place 1 tablespoon of filling into center of each potato.

Golden Roasted Turkey

(10–12 servings) 325°F preheated oven
- 1 (10–12-pound) turkey
- 36 garlic cloves, peeled and cut in half
- 2 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 medium onion, peeled, quartered and separated
- 2 celery ribs, cut in half crosswise
- 1/2 large green bell pepper, cored, seeded and cut into 2-inch strips
- 2 large carrots, scrubbed and cut in half lengthwise

Remove and save the fatty deposits found inside the flaps by the breast and tail cavities of the turkey.

In a 10-inch skillet, melt the turkey fat over high heat. Discard all but 1 tablespoon. Add the garlic and 1/2 teaspoon of the Poultry Magic, and sauté until the garlic just begins to turn brown and soft, about 3 minutes. Drain and set aside.

Work your fingers between the breast meat and the skin to form pockets, and place the cooled sautéed garlic evenly inside these pockets. Sprinkle 2 teaspoons of the Poultry Magic inside the breast cavity, then place the vegetables inside the cavity. Sprinkle the remaining Poultry Magic evenly over the outside of the turkey. Place the turkey in a large roasting pan and roast uncovered until tender and golden brown, about 3 1/2–4 1/2 hours. When the skin is light golden, about 2/3 done, shield the breast loosely with foil to prevent overcooking. Check for doneness 1/2 hour before turkey is expected to be fully cooked. Turkey is fully cooked when the thigh's internal temperature is 180°F. The thickest part of breast should read 170°F and the center of the stuffing should be at least 160°F.

Let the turkey stand for 15–20 minutes before carving.

Lite Mashed Potato Cheesecake

(12–16 servings) 350°F preheated oven
- 2 medium potatoes, peeled, cubed
- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/4 cups crushed vanilla wafers or graham cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- 3 (8-ounce) packages light cream cheese
- 1 cup sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1 (8-ounce) carton whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons sifted powdered sugar
- Fresh berries, optional

In a small saucepan, boil potatoes, covered, in 1 cup water until tender. Do not drain. Mash or blend until smooth. Measure mixture for 1 3/4 cups total. (Adding or subtracting water as needed.) Stir in lemon juice, lemon peel and salt. Set aside. In a bowl, toss wafer crumbs with melted butter. Spread evenly in bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350°F for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, beat cream cheese and sugar in electric mixer until fluffy. Add potato mixture and blend well. Add eggs, all at once, beat until just mixed. Do not overbeat. Pour into crust-lined pan. Bake at 325°F for 1 hour or until center is just set. Remove to rack; cool.

Hint: using sharp knife, loosen cake from sides of pan before cooling to prevent cracking. Chill. To serve, beat whipping cream and powdered sugar until soft peaks form. Spread on top of cheesecake; top with fresh berries, if desired.

Potato Gorgonzola Gratin

(4–6 servings) 400°F preheated oven
- 2 medium-large potatoes, unpeeled, verythinly sliced
- 2 teaspoons vegetable seasoning
- 1/2 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 1 medium tart green apple, unpeeled, cored, thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup milk or half & half
- 3/4 cup Gorgonzola (or bleu) cheese, crumbled
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

In an 8 or 9-inch casserole, arrange 1/2 of the potatoes. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon of Vegetable Magic. Layer onion and apple. Layer remaining potatoes and season with final teaspoon of Vegetable Magic. Pour on milk. Cover with foil. Bake at 400°F 30–40 minutes until fork tender. Remove foil; top with cheeses. Bake uncovered 10–15 minutes until lightly browned.

TURKEY CARVING TIPS

Cutco Cutlery recommends:
- Let meat set for a few minutes after removing from oven. It will firm up and be easier to carve.
- Place turkey on platter large enough to hold slices as meat is carved, or place a separate platter nearby that will also hold drumsticks and thighs.
- Creative garnishes add to the overall presentation of the turkey on a platter.
- Use a carving fork to hold the meat in place and a carving knife to slice.

1. Remove thigh, drumstick and wing.

2. Make a horizontal base cut across bottom of breast.

3. Starting parallel to the breastbone, slice diagonally down to the horizontal base cut. Continue slicing the breast by beginning at a higher point each time until the chest bone is reached.

- Use long, sweeping strokes for smooth, even slices.
- Carve enough for everyone before you start to serve.
- The carver may sit or stand; either is correct.

From our house...to your house...thanks for lighting up the holidays in honor of God and country! Wishing you and your loved ones a peaceful and blessed season from us and a very "Mooooory" Christmas from all the girls at the barn!

Generations Come Together Through Holiday Program

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The holiday season can be made more meaningful for children, adults, and senior citizens through a new program offered by Penn State Cooperative Extension.

"Connecting the Generations During the Holidays" uses activities to help participants increase awareness and adopt practices and behaviors that promote intergenerational communication between family members during the holidays. The half-hour seminar was developed by Matthew Kaplan, associate professor of agricultural and extension education, and Mary Ann Oyler, cooperative extension family and consumer science agent in Franklin County.

"Holidays can be an important time for building family unity," Kaplan says, "but they're too often stressful and hectic. Our program helps families to use this time to build relationships by bridging distances in age, geography and experience. We provide a system for addressing those distances and turning your focus to the joys of gift-giving, family conversations and appreciating family rituals and traditions."

The program takes participants through discussions of their own attitudes toward other generations and introduces such skills as buying "family-strengthening" gifts for young people, using gift-giving as an opportunity to pass on and reaffirm family values and directing family conversations during the holidays.

"Lots of parents and grandparents want to give their young people a sense of the importance of family and tradition at this time of year, but they think the kids won't appreciate it," Kaplan says. "But we've discovered that children and young adults are hungry for ways to connect, too. Holidays are especially important because many families are separated by time and distance the rest of the year.

The program uses materials from Penn State's intergenerational program such as the "Generation Celebration" curriculum, the "What Are Today's Young People Really Like?" handout (found on the Web at http://AgExtEd.cas.psu.edu/FCS/mk/YoungPeople.pdf) and the article "Giftgiving Ideas to Link the Generations," available at http://AgExtEd.cas.psu.edu/FCS/mk/1.pdf.

In the tradition of Christmas cheer, we'd like to extend our sincere thanks for your friendship this past year. May your season abound with love.

Think Intergeneration This Holiday Season

I think this may be the last year for the "believers."

Garrison at the ripe old age of seven came home from school not long ago and announced that "Some boy at school said Santa wasn't real."

Russell and I were stunned. We responded with our favorite expression to the boys when we are at a loss for words "Really?"

We thought for a moment before we responded because younger brother Elliot was all ears. Russell asked Garrison if he believed and he announced quickly "I believe."

Elliot then asked "Does Santa buys toys?"

Was this a trick question?

With confidence, I responded "Sure Santa buys toys because it's too much work for the Elves and Santa to make all the toys that are given around the world."

Elliot seemed relieved as he said "I thought so."

Just as quick as the Santa discussion started it moved onto another subject.

The holiday season at our house means much more than Santa. But no matter what your beliefs, it seems gift giving is part of the season. As the holidays approach, many of us will participate in gift giving to our loved ones young and old. Do you get a little stressed out trying to think of just the right gift? This year I challenge you to take a different look at gifts for some people on your list.

Rather than viewing gifts as "products," try seeing them as ways to bring people together," said Matthew Kaplan, associate professor of intergenerational programs and aging from Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "In that light, the search for the perfect gift becomes a search for ways to share time and build relationships."

Gift-giving has become increasingly difficult, Kaplan explains. "Social scientists say we're busier than we used to be and more of us are living apart.

Even families who live under the same roof are spending less time together. This raises concerns about family cohesion, particularly between younger and older members who need it the most.

"This separation has a profound impact on our lives," Kaplan said. "Young people are in need of guidance and nurturing.

Going it alone also can be difficult for elders. When older people become socially isolated, they often experience more physical and psychological stress and decline."

Kaplan sees holidays as a great opportunity to bring older and younger family members together. "Choose activities that tie into what people — whatever their age — have in common," Kaplan said. "Successful joint activities involve mutual interests, such as eating, talking, singing, dancing and crafts. Activities that accentuate shared membership in a family or community also work well."

So now with all that in mind, put on your thinking caps of how you can bring together the generations in your family. Making memories is what it is all about. Since the boys love to be read to, we're going to include Grandma and Grandpa as we tape record stories. Each reader will ring a little bell when they get to the end of each page as a signal to the boys to turn the page. What fun Garrison and Elliot will have following along in the book as they enjoy listening over and over again to the voices of those they love the most!

Send For Farm Show Supplement

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In order to encourage more entries in the Family Living Area for this 2002 show, a special supplement, the "Family Living Premium List," has been compiled. In this supplement, all open class areas are listed. They include canned foods, dried fruits and vegetables, baked products, clothing, and crafts, as well as 4-H and youth categories.

These contests have something for everyone. Whether it be the prize-winning jar of bread and butter pickles where the blue ribbon winner receives $12, the drop sugar cookie with its $10 prize, a homemade woman's blazer with its $25 prize, or the patchwork quilt with its $40 award, the competition is keen; but it's fun and rewarding to compete, and be the best in Pennsylvania.

We encourage everyone in Pennsylvania to consider entering some items in the show. There are no prerequisites for entering. Just bring entries or send your entries to the Farm Show building. Entries must arrive by Thursday, Jan. 3 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. The entry tag which is included in the new premium list must be filled in and enclosed with the entry. For those who are mailing in entries, there are special instructions printed in the booklet.

To receive a family living premium list, contact Gerri Moore, family living chairperson, P.O. Box 33, Hookstown, PA 15050 or call her toll free at (888) 385-4471.

Building Family Memories

One of my favorite things about this time of year is the chance to sit around with family members and talk about old times. Eventually the conversation always moves toward reminiscing about childhood days. Favorite stories are repeated like family legend and it is definitely a quality family time.

Invariably my mind wanders to the memories that my own children are forming today. What will be the stories they will tell their children? How do we help them form positive memories?

Today, with the constant rush we live in, it is hard to take time to think about important things like making memories.

I talked to a few dads about their childhood memories and what stood out for them especially during the holiday season. It seems the strongest memories of children are often those things that become long-standing rituals for the family. One dad mentioned that his family always went together to select the Christmas tree. They would go out in their old station wagon and go from lot to lot until they found the perfect tree. They would bring it home on the roof of the car and everyone would have a big mug of hot chocolate when they got home. It seems like a simple thing but it was a strong lifetime memory for those children.

Another dad remembered all of his cousins, aunts, and uncles being at his grandmother's house for Christmas and all of them walking the six blocks to church together. There were so many of them that they seemed to take up half the church! The other memorable part of the holiday was that all of the cousins slept on the floor together in one giant pajama party.

As you can see by these memories, it was not the expensive toy or exotic trip that was remembered by these fathers, it was just quality time spent with the family. That is an important thing to remember as we rush around trying to find the perfect gift and don't have time to spend watching that favorite holiday movie with the kids or reading a book together.

Sometimes parents can help promote the formation of memories by taking photos or spending time after an event, talking about the highlights of a trip or holiday and what was special about it. Having a child put into words his or her favorite part of vacation, for example, helps plant those memories for years to come.

And then there are those rituals that become fact simply by stating them — "We always eat black-eyed peas New Year's Day for good luck." Or "We always build a snowman after the first good snow fall."

One dad said his family had a great time last Christmas watching a video of another family's Christmas 10 years earlier. The teen cousins were delighted to see themselves as preschoolers tearing into gifts and playing with their new toys.

The video was played over and over and many of the teens and parents remarked that they remembered that particular gift or outfit they were wearing, etc. Videos make very strong memories — just make sure you take the time to watch them!

Happy holidays to all of you. Hope you will be making some extra special memories with your friends and family this holiday season!

Tips For Storing Canned Goods

- Label each jar with the date it was processed and the variety of the food.
- Use food which has been stored the longest period of time first. Rotate as older items are used.
- Remove screw bands so that they do not corrode and cause the seal to break.
- Store foods in a clean, dry place.
- Store foods in a dark place. Light destroys certain vitamins and causes some foods to fade in color. The cartons in which the jars were purchased are ideal for storage.
- Store foods in a cool place — between 50 and 70°F.

Earning Something From Nothing

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Susan Hammond, 250 Messiah Church Road, gives a lot of Christmas gifts created from nothing but made with lots of love.

"I can't stand to throw things away. I'm the one at the auctions who bids on the boxes that go for a dollar. My husband usually wonders why until he sees my finished products," she said with a laugh.

Petite and blond, Susan says she gets ideas in the middle of the night about what to do with things that most people would throw away.

Living on a farm, which has been in the Hammond family for more then 200 years, gives her plenty of opportunity for finding just such items.

When, her husband, Alan, tore down an old picket fence last summer, Susie grabbed the pieces, cut off the pointed tops and added her own handmade wooden and dried flower arrangements creating a unique wall decoration.

Other flowers or ornaments might be arranged in a box or unusual container found at a yard sale or flea market.

A box of old canning lids became heart-shaped Christmas tree ornaments. Old nylon stockings become expressive face ornaments for grapevine wreaths.

Susie makes other ornaments for the yuletide tree using cinnamon. The stars, hearts, and santa shapes give her craft fair and craft mall booths a Christmas fragrance.

Susie did several craft fairs in the fall and has a permanent booth at Founder's Crossing, a craft/antique mall in Bedford.

"I get help from my whole family," Susie said of her school teacher husband, and 23-year-old daughter Kelsy who works in Pittsburgh.

"I like to come home to help Mom with things like this," Kelsy said of a recent craft fair.

Son, Kalab who is in college also lends a hand when needed.

"Sometimes they laugh at my ideas," Susie said, "until they see the creations take shape."

Her husband's sock drawer was not even off limits as Susie created snowmen for the winter season and black cats for Halloween from old footwear.

"When he saw what I was doing, he just laughed and said I could have all of them," she said.

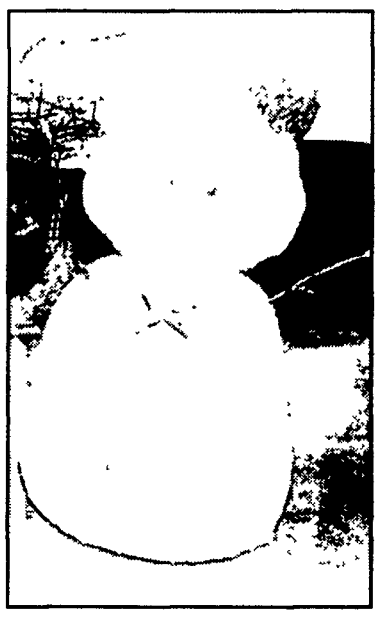
A Christmas tree was created from moss on the Hammond farm and a snowman to complete the scene was once a potato.

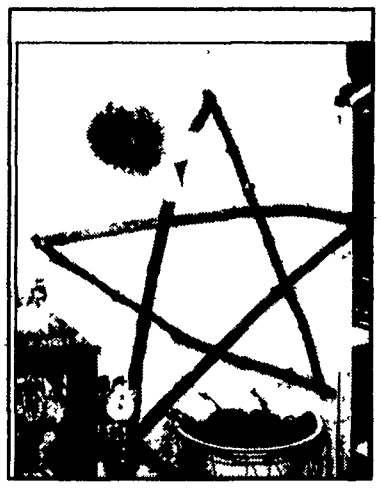
Susie makes wreaths from barbed wire and decorates them with crocheted bows.

One of the most admired and talked about items at her Fall Foliage stand was a wooden plaque created from old farm wood and adorned with a "Susie" created flag.

"Patriotic items were very popular this year," Susie said. "I don't think any of the vendors were having difficulty selling them."

Her Christmas gifts this year will center around a lot of her creativity and some of those she buys will be purchased with her "something from nothing" earnings.





The huge star, right, was created from pine bough branches. The trees are moss-covered, and the snowman from her husband's discarded socks.

Barbed wire wreaths topped off with hand-crocheted bows.

Balled Tree Care From Home To Yard

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Live trees chosen to shelter Christmas gifts can also offer wildlife shelter when planted in your backyard after the holiday season. Extra attention in choosing, caring and planting your live tree will help ensure the perfect holiday addition to your backyard, said Randy Heiligmann, an Ohio State University Extension forestry specialist.

When you choose your balled Christmas tree—trees with roots and soil held together in a burlap wrap—think about where it will be in your home and backyard. Measure the allotted area both indoors and outdoors to pick the proper size, said Heiligmann.

At the nursery, remember to include the ball in the measurement of the tree's height. "Trees in the lot look smaller than they really are. You destroy the look of the tree when you cut it to fit because you got the wrong size," he said.

After selecting a tree, carefully transport it home in a covered vehicle.

This protects the foliage from the wind, which can dry the tips out, Heiligmann said. Plan to have additional help in transporting the balled tree that may weigh up to 100 pounds or more, he said.

A balled tree should be placed inside for no more than five to eight days to prevent the tree from adapting to warmer conditions. Until then, place the tree under a larger tree, on the north side of the house, or in an unheated garage where it will be out of the wind and in the shade, said Heiligmann.

When moving the tree into the house, be careful not to damage the ball, Heiligmann said. If the soil is too wet when moving the tree, the root mass could break away from the roots leaving a mess in the house. "Just like any other potted plant, you need the soil to be moist, not wet," he said.

Place the tree in a room with temperatures of 65 degrees or lower and avoid south-facing windows, open registers and fireplaces, Heiligmann said. Warm spots will dry the tree and its foliage out, resulting in dead needles and even a dead tree, he said. The tree will do better in a cool, moist room.

After the holidays, the tree should be planted outside in a pre-dug hole.

Before Christmas, decide on a spot for the tree, keeping in mind that most Christmas trees eventually grow to 60 to 100 feet in height. The hole, which should be dug before the ground freezes, should be the height of the ball and 20 to 25 inches in diameter, said Heiligmann. Make sure to cover the pre-dug hole for safety purposes until after Christmas.

Plant the tree with the top of the ball level with the top of the hole or one-fourth out of the hole, Heiligmann said. Elevate the ball above the hole if the area soil tends to stay wet, he said. Use soil from the area or top soil to fill the hole, periodically tamping the soil down to prevent air pockets, said Heiligmann.

Once the tree is in place, add an inch or so of mulch around the tree trunk. Mulching will add to appearance, conserve moisture in the spring and retard encroachment of weeds, Heiligmann said. Water if the weather is warm.

Last, sit back, enjoy your tree and keep your eyes peeled for the animals whose presence will eventually replace the holiday gifts the tree once sheltered.

Season's Greetings From Lebanon Dairy Royalty

LEBANON — Six months have gone by since the Lebanon County Dairy Princess Pageant in June. I thought I would mention what we have done in the past month. We presented 12 presentations at the South Lebanon Elementary School. We served chocolate pudding and conducted a "Real Seal Contest" for the classes. The class with the most "Real Seals" won an ice cream party or pizza party. The winning class was Mrs. Erb's fifth grade.

At Ono Preschool, there were three groups. We read a story, talked to the kids about dairy products, and taught them some new songs like, "A churning we will go," and "This is the way we churn the cream."

At the Lebanon DHIA Banquet we served milk punch, I presented my speech, and played a trivia game with the audience. At Kmart, we handed out free samples of flavored milk such as vanilla, chocolate, banana, orange creme, and regular white milk.

If you have not seen us on television, I will tell you what we did. We were in the Lebanon Holiday Parade. We designed our own Christmas float with snow, snowmen, a Christmas tree, wreath, ribbons, stockings, garland, milk cans, and signs. We even had some big attractions with a baby calf on board that had a bright red ribbon around his neck. We found out later that we won second prize with our float.

At Campbelltown Day Care Center, we read stories, made cow masks, made pudding, and listened and danced to cow music. The kids enjoyed it as much as we did.

At the Lebanon County 4-H Dairy Banquet, we were the entertainment for the night. However, we did not entertain. We had some helpers do the work. We put a skit together about two girls (Sarah Moyer and Kelly Reist), who left cookies and soda for Santa instead of milk. When Santa (Nelson Troutman) came and saw there was no milk, he left the girls only a bucket of coal. The audience loved it, and Nelson, Sarah, and Kelly did a great job.

The Lebanon Farm City Banquet was a blast. We served Santa Surprise and Orange Taste Twister Milk Punch. It tasted good. More than 800 people attended the banquet. I met new people and ran into some old friends. It was a great night to look our best.

Yordy's Tree Farm was an interesting place. We served Santa Surprise Milk Punch, and got to thank the owners for donating the wreaths for our holiday float.

On Saturday, Dec. 15, from 10 to 2 p.m., we were at the Lebanon Wal-Mart Store serving cheese with many holiday recipes. These are only a few things we have done, but we still have more to do. Look for us at these upcoming events. On Thursday, Dec. 20, from 9:30 to 1 p.m., we will be at the Lebanon Court House serving Milk Punch. On Thursday, Dec. 27, we will be at the Lebanon Valley Child Care Learning Center at 10 a.m. From Jan. 5-10, we will be at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Also, listen for us on WLBR Radio as we promote the dairy industry with a few holiday announcements.

Lebanon County Dairy Royalty includes Amy Moyer, Pennsylvania alternate dairy princess; Jess Bross, dairy maid; Janelle Zimmerman, dairy maid; Chanelle Horst, dairy maid; and Louise Krall, li'l dairy miss, wishing you a "Dairy" Christmas and "Happy Moo" Year!

ANSWER — Joyce Shoemaker, Mount Joy, requested a recipe for fruitcake, which she had clipped from Taste of Home. Thanks to Bethany Keeney, Seven Valleys; Marilyn Shope, Middletown; and others for sending the same recipe.

Daisy's Fruitcake

3 cups chopped, peeled, tart apples
2 cups sugar
½ cup apple juice
3 eggs
¾ cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons apple pie spice
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups chopped pecans
½ pound halved candied red cherries
½ pound halved candied green cherries
½ pound diced candied pineapple

Line three 8x4x2-inch loaf pans with waxed paper. Grease the paper and set aside. In a large bowl, combine apples, sugar, and apple juice. Let stand 15 minutes. Combine eggs, oil, and vanilla; add to apple mixture and mix well.

Combine dry ingredients; add to apple mixture and mix well.

Fold in pecans, cherries, and pineapples. Pour into prepared pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 55-65 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pans to wire racks and remove waxed paper. Cool completely.

Note: Fruitcakes may be baked in eight 5¾x3x2-inch loaf pans for 40-45 minutes.

ANSWER — For those needing last-minute gifts, here are some gifts-from-the-kitchen recipes from Michelle Good, Beavertown.

Canned Pumpkin Bread

⅔ cup vegetable shortening
4 eggs
⅔ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cloves
2⅔ cups granulated sugar
2 cups canned pumpkin
3⅓ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
⅔ cup chopped nuts (if desired)
Makes 8 pints

In a mixing bowl, combine shortening and sugar. Beat until fluffy, about 5 minutes. Add eggs, pumpkin, and water; beat until blended. In a separate bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and spices; stir to blend. Stir into pumpkin mixture. Add nuts and blend well.

Pour into greased wide-mouth pint jars, filling them less than half full of batter. Place a cookie sheet on oven shelf and jars on a sheet. Bake at 325-degrees for 25 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove jars one at a time from oven. While still hot, clean sealing edge, cover with lid and secure band firmly. Lids should be scalded in boiling water. Twenty-four hours after jars are baked, bands can be removed.

M&M Cookie Mix In A Jar

¾ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
1½ cups mini candy-coated chocolates
2 cups all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine flour with baking soda and salt. In a clean one liter-size glass jar, layer the ingredients in the order given startling with the brown sugar and ending with flour mixture.

Attach a card with the following directions:

M&M Cookies

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line one baking sheet with parchment paper.

Empty the contents of jar into large bowl and mix until all the ingredients are well combined.

Using your hands work in ¾ cup softened butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Beat one egg with one teaspoon vanilla extract. Work this into the flour mixture until well combined. Dough will be a little crumbly. Shape dough into one-inch sized balls and place 2-inches apart on the prepared baking sheet. Slightly flatten balls with the palm of your hand. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-14 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove cookies to a rack to cool. Makes about two dozen cookies.

Last-Minute Recipes From Lebanon Dairy Royalty

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — "Christmas is almost upon us, and everybody is busy," writes Jessica Bross, Lebanon County dairy maid.

"There's holiday shopping to do, Christmas cookies that need to be baked, and holiday parties to attend.

"In this hustle and bustle, don't forget the importance of dairy products. We all need the nine essential vitamins and minerals that milk has. Milk's essential vitamins and minerals help keep our bodies in tiptop shape to handle all the holiday activities."

If you are looking for quick holiday recipes, Jessica recommends these two loaded with calcium and other essential nutrients.

Santa's Surprise

1 gallon vanilla ice cream
46-ounce can pineapple juice
10 (7-ounce) bottles lemon-lime soda
2 (6-ounce) cans frozen orange juice

Combine pineapple and orange juices in punch bowl. Slowly add soda. Scoop in ice cream. Makes 30 cups.

Country Cheese Ball

¾ cup chipped ham or finely chopped baked ham
8-ounces whipped cream cheese
1 cup sharp cheese, finely shredded
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

Mix together all ingredients. Shape into ball. Coat with ½ cup more ham.

"Nothing is more gratifying during the holiday season than sharing a meal at home with friends and family," writes Pennsylvania Alternate Amy Moyer.

She adds, "In addition, dairy recipes provide the ultimate means to create the perfect party experience. They are sophisticated and down-to-earth, individual, yet social.

"The holidays are my favorite time to the year, especially the smell of fresh-baked cookies, pies, and cakes or the aroma of a special dish. This season make cookies and treats ones that cannot be beat. With real butter, it will be the shining star of this holiday season.

"Nothing else adds a richer taste or smoother texture than real butter. There is no substitution for its delicious flavor, so be sure to have plenty on hand."

Chocolate Cream Cookies

½ cup butter, softened
½ cup shortening
3-ounces cream cheese, softened
1½ cups sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 ounces unsweetened baking chocolate, melted
2¼ cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped pecans

Cream butter, shortening, and cream cheese; gradually add sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg, milk, and vanilla; beat well. Stir in chocolate.

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; gradually add to creamed mixture, mixing well. Stir in pecans.

Drop dough by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto greased cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees 8-10 minutes. Cool slightly on cookie sheets; remove to wire racks to cool completely. Yield: about 6 dozen.

Nut Trees Important For Wildlife, Forests

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Nuts are among the most nutritious and energy-rich foods available in natural communities, and many wildlife species depend on nuts as they prepare for winter.

More than 80 species of North American birds and mammals eat nuts, including mice, chipmunks, jays, wild turkeys, black bears, squirrels, grouse, wood ducks, chickadees, deer, woodpeckers, and gray foxes.

Black walnut, butternut, hickories, beeches, and oaks are some of the nut-producing trees in Penn's Woods. Many of these hardwood trees also produce excellent timber and other important forest products. Before a blight nearly decimated them, American chestnut trees provided a bounty of nuts for wildlife and people, as well as high-quality wood.

So just what is a nut? — A nut is a dry fruit containing one seed. It has an edible kernel (or nut meat) enclosed by a tough or leathery shell. For instance, if you crack open the smooth, woody outer shell of an acorn, you will find the soft kernel inside. Many nuts develop inside a protective outer husk that deters animals from consuming the nuts before they are mature. For example, chestnuts and beechnuts develop in prickly husks, while hickory nuts have tough, fibrous husks.

Nut trees have a mutualistic relationship with certain small mammals and birds. The trees help the animals by producing a valuable food source, while the animals help the trees by dispersing the nuts and "planting" them.

Animals that destroy the seeds when eating the nuts do not have this beneficial relationship with the trees. On the other hand, Pennsylvania animals that bury nuts in the soil do benefit trees. Squirrels, chipmunks, mice, and blue jays gather nuts and bury them in scattered sites called caches. While the animals return to eat most of the nuts in the caches, some of the nuts remain uneaten and can develop into tree seedlings the following spring. A buried nut has a much greater chance of producing a seedling than a nut that remains exposed on the forest floor. Burial helps keep nuts hidden from insects and the myriad other animals that eat them. The nuts also stay moist underground and have a better chance of taking root.

You may have noticed that nut trees produce a variable amount of nuts from year to year. In certain years, they produce a very large nut crop — 100 to 1,000 times as many as in other years. This periodic output is known as masting.

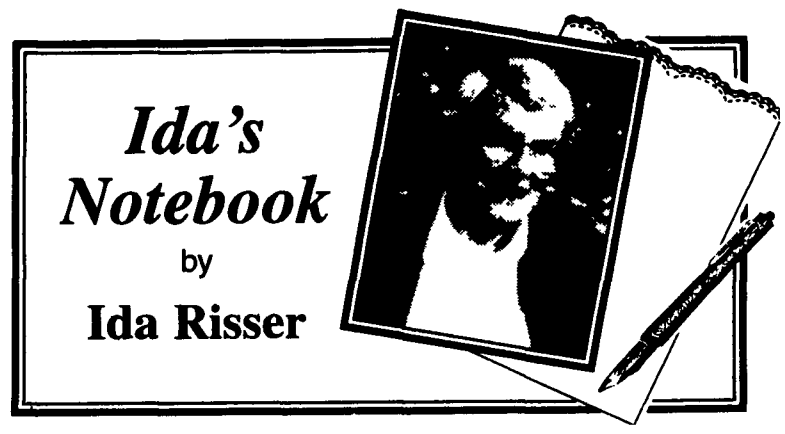
Masting is an adaptation to help ensure the survival of the next generation of trees. If trees produced the same number of nuts every year, animals that eat nuts would have relatively stable populations and consume most of the nuts each year. By producing fewer nuts in most years, the trees help keep the populations of insects and other nut-eaters in check. Then, when the trees do produce a bumper crop, there are more nuts available than animals to eat them, and the hoarders bury more nuts than they return to eat. Thus, masting helps ensure that at least some nuts survive to develop into tree seedlings.

Most nut trees mast in two to five year cycles, and trees of the same species tend to mast during the same year in a region. Genetics is thought to control masting, but climate also plays a role in the actual number of nuts produced.

Below are a few suggestions for providing nutritious nuts for wildlife:

- By removing poor quality trees, timber stand improvement can encourage the growth and nut production capability of higher quality trees.
- Encourage a diversity of nut-producing trees in your woodlands because different tree species mast in different years. By having varied species, it is more likely that there will be a good supply of nuts each year. Moreover, since diseases and pests tend to attack certain species, tree diversity will help ensure that some nut producing trees survive.
- Foresters use the term "wolf tree" to describe a tree that has a much bigger crown than the surrounding trees. Wolf trees can be especially valuable for supplementing the autumn mast crop. Many wolf trees also provide nesting cavities for wildlife.
- Nut producing trees that border wetlands provide food for wood ducks.
- When domestic livestock are permitted to graze in the woods, they can harm trees and cause soil erosion. Avoid this practice if possible.
- Foresters, wildlife specialists, and other resource professionals can help landowners develop forest management plans. The plans involve evaluating the resources and recommending practices that will help the landowner achieve his or her objectives. Enhancing wildlife habitat is an objective shared by many forest landowners, and plans can be written with that goal in mind.

The Pennsylvania Forest Stewardship Program has free publications that provide more information about trees and wildlife. Call 1-800-235-WISE (toll free) to request a free copy of Forest Stewardship #5: Wildlife and Pennsylvania Wildlife #7: Landscaping for Wildlife: Trees, Shrubs, and Vines.



Christmas means many things to many people. It all depends on the conditions under which the family lives.

To many people the religious aspect is the most important — as it should be. There are many activities in our churches to remind us of the true meaning of Christmas.

There are families with young children who can't wait to see what Santa will bring them. They have visited him and told him of their wish list. Now they must wait for Dec. 25.

Then there are folks who love to decorate their homes. They have waited all year and probably made some new things to use this season. My sister is artistic and paints pictures, which she shares each year. One year she gave beautiful baskets that she made.

Some of us go all out in baking a wide variety of cookies. These are then shared with friends and neighbors. So far I have 15 varieties stored in the freezer waiting to be boxed.

As we grow older there may be less decorating and less entertaining, although we have again invited our extended family the end of this month. So, I shall be doing my usual tree decorating. This year we expect to cut down a beautiful evergreen that is too close to our house.

In families where there is sickness a damper is put on celebrations. And in families where tragedy has struck there is sadness. Every Christmas from now on will remind of their loss.

Life is full of uncertainty and we must all take whatever life deals us. Even the weather can affect our activities as nowadays families are very scattered. We all hope for the best and look forward to seeing friends and relatives this season.

Berks County Li'l Dairy Miss Shares Grandma's Secret Recipe

ROBESONIA (Berks Co.) — Cookies and milk are one of this season's best combinations for hungry children and adults. And Berks County Li'l Miss Caitlyn Pool thinks she's got the most delicious cookies in the world — made with her grandma's secret recipe.

Called Grandma's Christmas Cut-Out Cookies, the recipe is from her maternal grandmother Elva Herbert, who died recently. If Grandmother Herbert were still alive, she would have celebrated her 76th birthday on Christmas Day.

Seven-year-old Caitlyn and her mother keep the memory and flavor of Grandma alive by baking her favorite recipe. The cookies include butter and milk, dairy products that Caitlyn promotes as the Li'l Dairy Miss.

As the littlest dairy promoter in Berks County, Caitlyn has been busy attending banquets, riding in parades, and visiting schools to tell others about cows and the good products they produce.

On the family's 350-acre Robesonia farm, Fantasyland Holsteins, Caitlyn lives with her parents, David and Martha Pool, brother Elliot, 13; and sisters, Lynette, 17, and Taylor, 4. The family milks 200 cows in their newly installed rotary parlor.

The family are strong dairy promoters. In fact, Caitlyn is the second member of her family selected as Berks County dairy royalty. Her big sister Lynette was crowned Berks County's first Li'l Dairy Miss in 1986.

Caitlyn believes that readers will enjoy her Grandmother's recipe, which was a family secret until now. Here it is — just in time for last minute baking:

How many cookies can I eat? Caitlyn debates after she helped her mother bake several different varieties.

Grandma's Christmas Cut-Out Cookies

1 pound butter
2 pounds flour
1 pound sugar
5 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon vanilla

Blend butter and sugar. Add eggs, cream of tartar, milk, and vanilla. Cream until smooth. Add dry ingredients. Chill dough in refrigerator overnight before rolling and cutting. Top with your favorite glaze or icing and decorations. Bake at 350 degrees until edges are slightly browned.

Smart Stuff
with Twig Walkingstick
Dear Twig: Is there any difference between a pine tree and a spruce tree?
Yep, there sure is. Pines and spruces are two different kinds of coniferous or cone bearing trees. Their needles are one way to tell them apart. Pine needles come in bundles of two to five attached by a paper wrap called a fascicle while spruce needles stand alone attached one by one to the stem. Spruce needles are also sharper. Ouch!
White, Austrian and Scots (or Scotch) are common types of pines. Spruces include white, black, blue and Norway.
People sometimes mix them up. Sometimes they think that all evergreens are pines. But spruces are evergreens too. So are hemlocks, firs and yews, among others.
The terms 'evergreen' and 'conifer' are also a source of confusion. They don't mean the same thing. Some conifers, like the tamarack, aren't evergreens (they drop all their needles in fall). And some evergreens, like the rhododendron, aren't conifers.
So, Pines are pines. Spruces are spruces. Pines and spruces are evergreens and conifers. But evergreens aren't always conifers. And conifers aren't always evergreens. (Oo. My head is spinning. I have to sit down.)

While Caitlyn, 7, rolls out the dough, her sister Taylor, 4, cheers.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Maryland 4-H Poultry Team Places 7th At National

LA PLATA, Md. — Carroll County had three members on the Maryland State 4-H Poultry four member team. They traveled to Louisville, Ky. the latter part of November and placed seventh at the National 4-H Poultry and Egg Conference. This team also placed fifth in the Avian Bowl.

These members have worked for several years to make this team which is picked at the Maryland State Fair. They practiced together for several months before their trip to Louisville.

The members of the team are Amiee Kidd, Anna Warner and Jason Ridinger all from Carroll County and Grace Patterson from Baltimore County.

Lauren Dobos from Montgomery County also traveled with the team as the Maryland Egg Demonstrator and she placed fourth in the nation.

The coaches for the team were Dr. Nick Zimmerman and Donna B. Bailey, coach for the Egg Demonstrator is Carrie Sellman, Carroll County Extension.

Mainland Equestrian 4-H Club Meets

Mainland Equestrian 4-H Club recently conducted its last meeting of 2001. Members reviewed their previous meeting and discussed the Montgomery County Awards Banquet.

Many club members took top prizes. Katie Lear was Production Member of the Year for the second year in a row with her miniature horses. Justin Hoade won the Denise Brown Award in western with Alby's Ghost. Mrs. Hoade and Mrs. Carmoski won the Hardworking Individuals Award from the Mainland Club.

Leader Lynn Epprecht presented the Total Eclipse Award, given in memory of Midnight. The Total Eclipse Award was given to the Short Stirrup riders with the most points. Every club member received a certificate if they showed 4-H this year.

The club split into groups to play Hippology. Hippology is an activity offered to 4-H'ers. Horse items are spread out on a table and players must guess what each item is. The items may be anything from tack and bits to medicines and braiding tools. No item could stump the entire club. Members are looking forward to the club lock-in in January.

York County 4-H Starts Fund For N.Y. Children

YORK (York Co.) — The York County 4-H Council will start their new year with a special community service project. In response to the events of Sept. 11, York's 4-H County Council has examined many service projects to help the victims. They have decided on "4-H Kids Helping Kids."

This is a foundation that will use all money contributed for the benefit of the children of the victims of the bombings. Many children lost one or both parents in the attacks. These children will need help and support for many years to come.

The money will be used to provide programs, support, therapy, and services that focus on the needs of these young people from New York City and Washington, D.C. over the next two years or longer, as needed.

Over the next six weeks, local 4-H Clubs will be holding special fund-raising efforts to collect money to donate to this Foundation. They are also accepting cash donations.

4-H is a youth development organization dedicated to teaching life skills to youth. The program is open to all youth in York County between the ages of seven and 18. You do not have to live on a farm to be in 4-H. There are programs for youth from the city, suburbs, and rural areas.

If you would like more information about joining 4-H or if you would like to make a contribution to their fund-raising efforts, please contact Penn State Cooperative Extension, (717) 840-7408 and asked to speak with someone in the 4-H Department.

Checks for the "4-H Kids Helping Kids" project should be made payable to "York County 4-H Development Fund" please specify that this money is for the 4-H Kids Helping Kids community service project. Please send to Attn: Mary Jo Kraft, 4-H/Youth Development program. A check will be sent to the New York State 4-H Foundation in late January, or when all money is received. If you have questions, call the office.

Heat with Corn!

Burn Shelled Corn In This Biomass Furnace
A BETTER ALTERNATIVE
The corn burning furnace has many advantages over wood and coal heat. The large storage bin holds up to 14 bushels of fuel, which is automatically fed into the combustion chamber as needed. There's no need to load the furnace several times a day. The use of corn also eliminates the bark mess, insects, splinters, and handling problems connected with the use of wood fuel, and the dust and dirt from coal. UL Approved.

Make Christmas Rich Without Blowing The Family Budget Or Your Mind

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Making Christmas special for family and friends too often ends up with overextended budgets and frazzled nerves, which quickly deletes warm memories and leaves little time to celebrate the original meaning of Christmas.

"Christmas is Jesus' birthday," said Arlene Kreider, who believes that the real meaning of the holiday gets lost in the bustle of "things" began with good intentions.

Take the custom of exchanging presents — originally began as a reminder that God gave his Son to the world. Unfortunately the concept of gift giving puts a financial burden upon many families because there is no end to the list of presents "required" for friends, family, coworkers, and acquaintances.

Several years ago, Arlene and her husband Wilmer, who were dairy farming in Quarryville, examined the gift-giving concept. True, gift giving created happy memories in children, and sometimes in adults. But the Kreiders recognized that gift giving often promotes selfishness and detracts from the real meaning. In addition it is often a hassle to find a gift for those who really don't need anything.

"On birthdays, people don't give gifts to everyone except the person whose birthday it is — quite the contrary — they give to the birthday person. In this case, that person is Jesus," Arlene said.

The Kreiders started the tradition of baking a birthday cake for Jesus and singing "Happy Birthday," to establish the understanding within their own three children that Christmas is really Jesus' birthday. The Kreider children are now grown, but the family continues the birthday cake tradition with the grandchildren that have expanded their family.

"Instead of giving elaborate Christmas gifts to each other, we give larger gifts for each person on his or her birthday, and keep Christmas more simple," Arlene said.

Gift giving at Christmas is a time to give to those in need. Despite America being the land of plenty, there are many needy families who through illness or unfortunate circumstances need financial help not only at Christmas but throughout the year.

Arlene dislikes our culture's materialistic message that expensive gifts are a sign of love and caring.

It's much easier to focus on the things money can buy rather than the things that matter: relationships with family and friends, satisfaction, peace, and joy.

If gift giving really is important to you, consider some of these ideas to lighten the financial load: Have each member in your extended family or guest bring one gift. Play "now you have it, now you don't."

You've heard the saying that one man's junk is another man's treasure — incorporate that idea into your gift giving. Have each guest bring something from their home that they no longer use or want but is in fairly good condition. Another words: exchange "used" gifts. If this sounds tacky, it's only because you've never participated in one of these exchanges.

It is absolutely delightful to unwrap a gift and find that vase you always admired at your friend's home. Or, to find a copy of the Guiness Book of Records and spend hours laughing over the silly, stupid, and amazing things that the human race achieves.

This is also a way for the older generation to do the necessary downsizing that age often requires. It is rewarding for a great grandmother to see her a young granddaughter appreciate receiving a family heirloom.

"Our culture bombards us with idealized images of the holidays," said Karen Bracey, extension agent for Wyoming County.

When we can't attain the "ideal" image of the perfectly decorated house, a massive amount of gifts for family and friends, and scrumptious holiday dinners and parties, we often feel disappointed, upset or depressed. This contributes to holiday stress.

Bracey recommends developing realistic expectations. Stick to a budget. Have realistic expectations about the sheer amount of things you will have time to do.

Decide what is most important to you and your family. Do you need to have six different varieties of cookies to serve to guests?

If you enjoy baking and have the time, your answer might be "yes." If baking isn't your forte, forgo the traditional baking and concentrate on the things you enjoy. Today's market enables you to purchase homemade cookies and even factory-made ones that often taste just as good as those that require hours of slaving over in your own kitchen.

Perhaps you enjoy decorating your home with fresh greens and filling your yard with twinkling lights. These touches give you an emotional lift and certainly delights passerby and visitors. Do it if you enjoy it, have the time, and can afford it. If the process makes you irritable and exhausted, don't do it or at least reduce the amount of decorating you normally do.

Do you always send stacks of Christmas cards to everyone you have ever met? With the price of cards and postage, that can make a hefty dent in your budget not to mention the time required to address and sign all those cards. You may want to rethink whether or not this custom is as meaningful to the recipients as it once was. An alternative to holiday card sending is to save those you receive. In January, select a card each day, and respond to the sender. You may want to add the message that you are thinking and praying for that person on that day. This method gives you more time to individualize your card and will probably be more meaningful to the recipient also.

Elaborate Christmas dinners are traditional, and one that families often cherish. But the time required to prepare a feast can be overwhelming to today's busy housewife, especially if she works outside the home or is a relatively new cook.

Share the workload. Instead of grandma or the hostess preparing all the food, have each guest bring a dish. Most are happy to prepare one of their favorite recipes. This method enables the family to continue the tradition of the holiday feast without causing "kitchen distress."

Some families spend time around the piano singing Christmas carols. Many love this tradition. If you're family isn't musically inclined, you can play Christmas music in the background.

Some traditional observances can be adapted to include all family members. Have children reenact the Christmas story while a family member reads it from the Bible. As children grow older, they may be assigned speaking parts. Incorporate the talents of children or adults by having them play a musical instrument or sing a solo.

A few people ignore the whole holiday bustle by refusing to give gifts or decorate and some refuse to participate in family gatherings because of family grudges. Christmas is a good time to put aside differences and show appreciation to each other.

Don't expect your children to behave perfectly during the holiday season — remember they don't at other times of the year either. Sibling rivalry is a childhood trait. It is unrealistic to expect it to disappear during the holidays.

As a parent, you can help reduce frustrations caused by normal childhood behavior. Don't hang antique ornaments on the tree — that only entices childhood curiosity. Keep holiday treats out of sight. No use in constantly tempting children and adults with overindulging in holiday goodies.

If the tree falls over, try to retain perspective. The story is sure to be retold and becomes more humorous with the retelling.

A balanced and rewarding approach in dealing with holiday stress is to be adaptable and flexible. Real families and real people are not perfect. Don't expect yours to be. Your family and your home might not qualify for the "ideal" media image, but they're yours. If you relax and concentrate on what is important, you might discover that celebrating a "rich" Christmas is possible without blowing the budget or your mind.

Having the children act out the Christmas story is a tradition passed down through several generations of the Martin, Kurtz, and Good families.

Not all pine nuts are the same

Are pine nuts really nuts?

Sure they are Just because they don't show up in your favorite can of mixed nuts doesn't mean they're not just as nutty as an almond or cashew

Nuts are dry seeds or fruits with an internal, edible kernel surrounded by a hard shell or rind, and pine nuts fit the bill exactly

There are actually several kinds of pine nuts, which come from different kinds of pine trees Among the most common are the pignolia, or European pine nut — remains of which have been found in ancient Roman and Greek ruins The pinyon (or pinon) is native to the southwestern United States and has been part of Native American diets for thousands of years

Depending on the type of tree, pine nuts can be slender and pellet-shaped or more triangular They're creamy-colored, and about a half inch to an inch long The pinyon variety is said to have a slightly sweeter flavor than pignolia, but flavor differences between various types of pine nuts are subtle

Like any nut, pine nuts are high in fat and calories, but are a good source of protein, too According to the US Department of Agriculture's Nutrient Database (http //www nal usda gov/fnic/cgi-bin/nut_search pl), an ounce of pignolia pine nuts contains 160 calories, 14 grams of fat, and nearly 7 grams of protein An ounce of pinyon pine nuts contains 178 calories, 17 grams of fat, and over 3 grams of protein

Pine nuts are most famous for their appearance in pesto sauce, a mixture of crushed fresh basil, garlic and olive oil Pine nuts are often listed as an optional ingredient, but some gourmets believe pesto isn't pesto without pine nuts ground into the mixture Pine nuts are now often used to dress up rice dishes, vegetables and chicken recipes

Pine nuts can be found in many grocery stores, but are more common in health-food stores, nut shops and Asian markets Their high fat content allows them to turn rancid quickly, so they should be stored in an air-tight container in the refrigerator for up to three months, or in the freezer for up to nine months

Holiday Safety Facts

According to the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), approximately one-tenth of one percent (0.12 percent) of residential fires involve a Christmas tree.

According to NFPA data, of all the real Christmas trees enjoyed during the holiday season, fewer than one one-thousandth of a percent (0.001 percent) are involved in a residential fire.

Christmas trees are not as likely to be the first item ignited in residential fires as many other common household items:

- Newspapers and magazines — 13 times more likely.
- Boxes or bags — 10 times more likely.
- Curtains or drapes — nine times more likely.
- Linens — eight times more likely.
- Cleaning supplies — three times more likely.
- Clothing on a person — two times more likely.

At no time can a real Christmas tree start a fire. Ignition sources are always external.

Holiday Safety Measures

Select the freshest-looking real tree available. Make a fresh cut across the tree's base and immediately place in water. Keep the tree's water container full at all times, checking the water level daily.

Be extra careful with electricity, all open flames and other heat sources during the holidays.

Check all Christmas tree lights, other electric decorations and electrical appliances for wear (frayed cords, for example). Do not use lights, decorations or appliances with worn electrical cords. Use only UL approved electrical decorations and extension cords.

Place the Christmas tree well away from heat registers, space heaters, fireplaces, wood stoves, televisions, computer monitors and other heat sources.

Place the Christmas tree clear of doors to keep the emergency escape route clear of trees, packages and furniture.

Unplug tree lights and other decorations when out of the room or sleeping.

Lebanon County 4-H and FFA Livestock Judging Teams Excel

MILLIE BUNTING
Market Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Two Lebanon County youth livestock judging teams secured their spots in the county's agricultural record books by winning both the Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA state livestock judging contests.

Capturing first place in the Pennsylvania FFA Livestock Judging Career Development Event (CDE) in June were Cedar Crest FFA chapter members — Billie Jo Atkins, Gretchen Artz, Nate Artz, and Carl Eisenhauer, Jr. They are also members of 4-H clubs.

Competing as the Lebanon County 4-H team were Travis Adam, Kyle Fleener, Tim Schaeffer and Nate Tice. They are all members of county 4-H clubs and came together as a team coached by a veteran in livestock judging, Brian Kreider, who is a Penn State graduate in animal science and a Lebanon County crop and beef farmer.

By winning their state events, both teams earned their way to the national events.

The Cedar Crest FFA team members traveled to the National FFA Convention Oct. 24-27 in Louisville, where they did relatively well competing as individuals and qualified as a Bronze Emblem Team. Billie Jo Atkins was a Silver Emblem Individual award winner and Gretchen Artz, Nate Artz, and Carl Eisenhauer, each received a Bronze Emblem Individual award.

Standing: Brian Kreider, team coach, Lebanon County beef and crop farmer.

Culminating the Lebanon County 4-H team's year was placing third overall at the 78th National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest, Nov. 12-13, during the North American International Livestock Exposition. The 4-H national event also took place in Louisville.

At the national event, 32 teams from across the United States competed as individuals in the four classes: sheep, swine, cattle, and oral (reasons). Their individual scores were tallied for a team total. Illinois was the first place overall winner with 2226 points, followed by Texas second with 2198 points; Pennsylvania, third with 2191 points; Ohio, fourth with 2159 points; and Indiana, fifth with 2156 points.

Travis Adam was second in the individual rankings, only one point behind the first place finisher, Craig Steck, from Knoxville, Ill. Sealing their Pennsylvania team's third pace overall was Kyle Fleener, who was the fourth highest individual winner.

The Pennsylvania 4-H team's coach certainly is to be congratulated for all their achievements. Kreider has spent countless hours working with each member of the team and accompanied them to many events. Considering practice took place almost every weekend since early in 2001, and, add to that the traveling to competitions, Kreider's dedication paid off for his team.

Other major events for the Pennsylvania 4-Hers and their team placings were: Eastern Nationals, Sept. 22 in Maryland, fourth overall; Keystone International (KILE), Oct. 6, fifth; and the American Royal Livestock Exposition, Oct. 27, in Kansas City, second overall.

The Lebanon County team started participating in judging contests in March. They first competed at a Spring contest at Penn State, and then the Southeast 4-H Regional livestock roundup in Chester County where they won first place.

An out-of-state event in which they placed first for the second year in a row was the Cattail Classic at the Mullinex farm in Maryland. Travis Adam who was the first place individual winner won a two-year scholarship to Butler College in Kansas where Chris Mullinex coaches the livestock judging team.

All of the members of the two Pennsylvania State champion teams, both FFA and 4-H, became interested in livestock judging in the 4-H program, beginning in elementary school. Some were as young as eight years old. These outstanding eight teenagers and their parents and coaches deserve congratulations for their outstanding achievements.

Twin Valley FFA Chapter And Members Receive Awards At National Convention

ELVERSON (Chester Co.) — At the recent national FFA convention, Twin Valley chapter members and the chapter itself garnered awards.

Sophomore Ashley Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Austin of Elverson, won a bronze medal in the national FFA creed speaking contest in competition with 46 others speakers.

Creed speakers had to recite the creed before a panel of judges and an audience. The judges then asked each competitor the same three questions. Speakers were judged on their speaking ability as well as their ability to answer the questions.

The Twin Valley chapter received a three star award. 103 three star awards were presented from among the 7500+ FFA chapters in the United States.

Chapter awards are based on a chapter's ability to involve members in a variety of activities in the three areas of student development, chapter development and community development.

Chapters must document their activities as well as the planning for activities - goals, time lines, procedures, benefits to members and the chapter and community, educational value, etc.

With 266 chapter members in the 2000-01 school year, planning and conducting numerous activities was a challenge for chapter officers and advisors.

Major activities highlighted by the Twin Valley chapter application included: chapter participation in state and national activities, recreational activities for members, record book competitions, chapter fund raisers - especially the bulb and citrus sales, chapter officer retreats, all night leadership conference with 99 members in attendance, educational programs for all third grade students in our district, involvement at the Hay Creek Fall and Apple festivals, and a canned food drive where over 2700 cans of food were collected.

Other activities included educational trips to Longwood Gardens, involvement with the Pennsylvania Game Commission, chapter cookouts, baking for shelters, the chapter awards banquet, the agriculture day breakfast, Christmas tree recycling, working on the district environmental education area and third grade educational day at the agriculture department.

The Twin Valley environmental and natural resources team represented Pennsylvania in this relatively new national competition.

Team members demonstrated individual skills by viewing a short video on an environmental concept and then writing a news article, answering questions from a panel of judges on the environmental concept covered in the video, performing soil tests and recommending fertilizers to be applied to produce a crop, judging a soil profile, performing water tests, evaluating a wildlife habitat by identifying all species present and then constructing a food web for the site and making recommendations to improve the site.

Team members also toured a publishing plant and made recommendations on ways to reduce waste from the plant. They were required to identify a wide variety of animal, plants, fish, birds, equipment, induced species, etc. Each team member also took a general knowledge test on environmental principals.

Working as a team they were given a environmental situation. The team had one hour to decide how they would handle the problem (soil compaction this year) and prepare a presentation, including posters and graphics, for a panel of judges. They then had to give their presentation to the judges.

This exceptionally challenging event involved over 10 hours of practicums and tests over a two day period.

In individual placings, Josh Risbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Binins of Brandamore placed fourth; Danaan Stoltzfus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stoltzfus of Honey Brook, placed eleventh; Danielle D'Angelo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Roush of Birdsboro, placed fourteenth; and Desiree Brungard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brungard of Elverson, placed eighteenth.

All four members of the team received gold medals. Josh received a $600 scholarship and Danaan a $500 scholarship. The team placed second against teams from 33 other states. All team members are seniors and very active members of the Twin Valley chapter.

Three graduate members of the chapter received the American FFA degree. Kelly Andrews, Julie Peterson and Jamie Powell join a growing list of chapter members who have achieved this award. Kelly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Andrews of Plowville, is an environmental education major at Penn State University. Julie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Honey Brook, is an engineering student at Penn State University. Jamie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scaramuzzino of Honey Brook, is employed by the U.S. Post Office.

A group of 16 chapter members traveled to the national FFA convention in Louisville with chapter advisor Ron Frederick and Mrs. Frederick as well as Mr. and Mrs. Austin.

West Snyder SUN Degrees; Kennard-Dale Apple Judging

10 West Snyder FFA Members Earn SUN Degrees

The West Snyder FFA members who earned their degrees were Victoria Adams, Jenna Briggs, Tiffany Esbenshade, Hannah Etzler, Derek Fetterolf, Lance Herman, Doug Hollenbach, Andrew Kreamer, Daphne Wagner, and Phaedra Wray.

In order to receive the SUN Area FFA Degree, members must have completed two years of agricultural education courses, earned or invested at least $500 or worked at least 300 hours in a Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) project. Members must also have been in two programs presented to the public and represented the chapter above the area level in an FFA event.

Hannah Etzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Etzler of Beavertown, was named as the SUN Area Star Farmer. This award is given to those students who have shown premier leadership and an outstanding supervised occupational experience program. Etzler is a vice president in the West Snyder FFA Chapter. Her SAE projects include sheep finishing, sheep breeding, swine finishing, and beef finishing. She earned a gold medal in the State FFA Record Keeping event and represented West Snyder FFA at the Washington Leadership Conference. Her future plans include a four-year degree in Animal Science.

FFA Members Excel In Apple Judging

Kennard-Dale FFA members met a challenge as they competed in the only Apple Judging career development event (contest) in the State of Pennsylvania.

Held in Adams County, the apple capital, Nov. 7, the event consisted of identifying apple varieties, disease and insect damage, and judging two classes of apples.

The event was originated because the Biglerville FFA chapter felt that this important Pennsylvania product should be a focus for students. Students gain a broad sense of knowledge on the apple industry through this competition.

Barbara Richardson and Rebecca Butt, of the Kennard-Dale FFA chapter spent many hours learning the varieties of apples and researching common apple insect and disease damage. They also investigated how apples would be scored in a judging event.

In competition with over 40 other FFA members, Richardson earned first place in the event and Butt 21st.

Cherished Ornaments Pay Tribute To Flight 93 Victims

Janet Scott, Somerset County, stands by the tree made with geese feathers and decorated with antique Christmas items. The large tree is decorated with antique red, white, and blue ornaments as well as other patriotic items. Scott used a patriotic theme to express her sympathy for the heroes aboard Flight 93, which she heard crash near her home on Sept. 11.

SANDRA J. LEPLEY
Somerset Co. Correspondent

STONYCREEK (Somerset Co.) — Janet Scott of Stonycreek Township in Somerset County wanted to somehow pay tribute to those aboard Flight 93 who lost their lives just a few short miles from her farm on Sept. 11.

But, she wasn't sure how she could do that when local people were not allowed to have contact with friends and families of the victims or go on-site until just recently. So, she decided to do something special in her own way.

By the end of October, she started to pull some of her antique red, white and blue Christmas ornaments for a theme Christmas tree and the idea grew from there.

"I put up a theme tree every year and I knew this year, I wanted to do something special for Flight 93," said Scott, who literally felt the ground shake the day the Boeing 757 went down in an abandoned mine cut a few miles from her farm.

"We weren't allowed to go down there (to the crash site) and I felt like I wanted to be a part of it. I wanted so much for this tree to be seen by more than just my family."

That sunny morning of Sept. 11, Scott had been outside cleaning gourds for a local business when she heard the terrible boom and felt the earth shake.

She had known somewhat about the World Trade Center but had no idea that the last of four terrorists' planes crashed in her area.

"It sounded like a plane went down, and I thought at first it might have hit my daughter's house. Then my daughter called me because we didn't have any electricity and told me what happened," said Scott. "We had no idea at first the crash was connected to the others. We didn't know that until much later in the day. I could hear that sound (of crashing) in my sleep every night for weeks afterwards."

Scott has been collecting Christmas items for several years now and she appropriately has done so because her birthday is Christmas Day 1932.

She first decorated a theme tree about 15 years ago when her and her husband Glenn's farm, called StonyLake Farm overlooking Lake Stonycreek, won Dairy of Distinction and that year for Christmas, she decided to decorate a farm tree.

Since then, there has been a teddy bear tree, a Santa tree, a musical tree, a Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs tree and many others, all of which are done with antique ornaments scattered throughout. Her family, including her husband Glenn, daughters Cindy and Linda, and son David, all of Somerset County, enjoy their mother's festive spirit.

"It seems appropriate since I was born on Christmas Day 1932," she laughs.

"I'm just a collector at heart. I don't drink or smoke so I spend my money on collectibles. Sometimes it's like a disease but I really enjoy it. It's a way of expressing myself." With this year's Flight 93 tribute tree, Scott has done much more than express herself. She has created a masterpiece.

The seven-foot tall pencil tree has been decorated with not only specially-selected antique red, white and blue ornaments, such as a Bird of Paradise, a bell, and several balls from her vast collection, but also interesting items, such as World War II, the Spirit of 1976 and Uncle Sam memorabilia and Flight 93 collectibles.

"I have a feeling it will be up for some time," she says. "Some items are brand new or are three or four years old and others are 40 or 50 years old." A few months ago she went to an antique shop in Duncansville, and found several patriotic items. Just a few weeks ago she returned to the same shop and everything of a patriotic nature was gone.

On her tree, she has a special ornament called "Braveheart" by Christopher Radko, a renowned designer of fine European glass ornaments. Radko used the proceeds from this exclusive heart-shaped ornament for the Liberty Fund of the American Red Cross for New York City.

Also on her tree, Scott has her favorite, a glass bell decorated in a flag.

"If I break that bell, I am going to cry. I'm not sure where I got it or when I got it but it is my favorite. It shows up so well in all my pictures of the Christmas trees over the years," says Scott.

Another interesting item on the tree is a flag with an inscription. It says: Our nation will eternally honor the heroes of Flight 93. Flight 93 Memorial Fund, Somerset Trust Co., Box 717, Somerset, Pa. 15501.

Scott explained that the local store in Shanksville, called Ida's Country Store, had been giving out this memorial item after a man from the Harrisburg area designed and reproduced them as a way of doing something special. Scott did not know his name and it is not inscribed on the item, but he wanted people in the town to have one.

Although Scott enjoys going to Shupps' Grove near Lancaster and Duncansville for her collecting, she mainly collects locally at shops and auctions.

"She has more Christmas ornaments than anyone else in Somerset County," said Kay Kemp, owner of Somerset Galleries, an Uptown Somerset antique shop. "Janet is a wonderful person and I enjoy her visits."

A collector at heart, Scott first

It's no wonder Scott collects Christmas ornaments. She was born on Christmas Day 1932. The special heart-shaped ornament called Braveheart was designed by Christopher Radko to benefit the Liberty Fund.

Lots Of Collectibles For Cigar Smokers

Along with the revived interest in cigars are the many vintage objects made for them around the turn of the century and into the early 20th.

In those days many different items were needed before the cigar could be smoked. For example in those days manufacturers didn't make cigars with both ends open. A bit of the sealed end had to be removed so the smoker could draw the smoke into his mouth when the other end was lit.

The problem was solved with a cigar cutter. There was not only cigar cutters available at tobacco store counters but lighters. For individual use there were match safes, to hold matches. As popularity grew, so did ways to keep home cigars from drying out. The result was a variety of home humidors, from boxes to elegant cabinets on stands.

Inside the cabinets were sliding trays to hold the cigars. When they come to auction they can sell for several thousand dollars, depending on the quality of the piece. When an Edwardian humidor cabinet with ormolu mounts and a bass relief panel came to a recent Red Baron auction, in Atlanta, it had an estimate of $2,500-3,500.

Scarce and collectible are counter top cigar store figures. Depending on condition and novelty of design these figures ranging from 24-inches high can sell for as much as $8,000. More common figures are priced at $1,500.

CLUES: It is still possible to build a collection of cigar cutter, both those made for counter and individual use. Categories also include advertising cutters and those made as jewelry. Others were in figural form.

Most common were the scissors-type that were gold or silver plated, some so tiny that they could be used as charms. They make great collectibles for todays' female smokers.

Rare and expensive are mechanical cigar cutters used in tobacco stores around the turn of the century. These were made with blades that "snapped" around quickly when the tips of cigars were were put into the openings. Some were colorfully decorated with advertising and others had glass domes. Metal wind-up cutters sometimes resembled mechanical banks, performing a couple of steps with started collecting Planters Peanuts memorabilia and from there, her collections have grown to hundreds of birds on the nest, sea shells from Santa Island, Fla., marbles, children's toys and spool babies just to name a few.

She also has a paper mache Santa, a Santa bulb, a feather tree made of goose feathers from Germany (sometimes called a Charlie Brown tree) and sheep made in West Germany.

"In a way, this (plane crash) was fame we never asked for," said Scott, who was interviewed by Dateline NBC during the media blitz that descended upon the small town after the crash. "My relative was in the service and he said people always asked him where he was from and he said 'Shanksville,' but no one ever knew where that was. Now, the whole nation and the world know," Scott said.

"It happened. There's no way we can change that. We can only be thankful for those aboard Flight 93 because they saved so many others lives by sacrificing their own."

a figure biting off the cigar tip.

Unfortunately many of these metal cutters ended up as scrap or were melted down in World War 1. The more movements performed, the more expensive. A cast iron figure of a burro that is activated with a base lever to move ears and tail has sold for more than $500. A simple pocket knife figural could be priced for as little as $50.

One of the most unique cigar cutters documented is known as the "King Alfred." It was 13-inches high and held a waterbury clock.

There were several types of pocket-type cutters. Some could also be used as pocket knives and made to be attached to a pocket watch. As part of a gentleman's jewelry, the cutters were made in sterling silver as well as 14-karat gold, and engraved or etched

While there are collectors specializing in match safes, these obviously could be a spin off as cigar collectibles. Most commonly made of nickel over brass, they measure from 1½-inches to about 2¼-inches. Still modestly priced are those that advertised a product or an event, such as a fair. For the wealthy, diamonds, rubies and other gems were inset.

Other collecting possibilities include cigar boxes with colorful lithographed scenes and exotic ladies. Around the early 20th century cigar bands were such popular collectibles that special albums were made for them. Other times the bands were used as decoupage to cover small tables, ashtrays and bowls. Anything goes...as long as it doesn't go up in smoke.

Cornell Sheep Short Course And Sheep Producers Meeting Jan. 11-13

ITHACA, N.Y. — The Cornell Sheep Short Course has been scheduled for Jan. 11-13, 2002 on the Cornell campus in Ithaca, N.Y. and at the Cornell Sheep Farm at the Teaching and Research Center at Harford, N.Y. This year for the first time, the Empire Sheep Producer's Association annual meeting will be conducted during the short course.

Starting at 1:30 p.m. on Jan. 11, Mike Thonney will guide participants through Cornell software developed for sheep farm management. This will be followed by an in-depth session on sheep flock health management by Dr. Mary Smith, the Cornell Sheep Farm veterinarian. Friday evening, Mr. Robert White, a culinary instructor in the Cornell Hotel School, will demonstrate cutting and cooking lamb.

Saturday morning, Jan. 12, will start off at the Cornell Sheep Farm where participants will see winter grazing, lambing management, and feeding management with Brian Magee and Mike Thonney. Participants will return in the afternoon to hear Brian's presentation on winter grazing. Bee Tolman will then discuss how to establish and manage a sheep dairy.

The Empire Sheep Producer's annual meeting will take place from 4 to 5:30 p.m., on Saturday, Jan. 12 in Morrison Hall. The Empire Sheep Producer's Board will meet earlier in the day during lunchtime.

A highlight of each short course is the buffet-style lamb dinner designed and prepared with the help of Robert White, culinary instructor in the Cornell Hotel School. In addition to providing an enjoyable evening, the dinner is meant to demonstrate how the entire carcass can be used to make delectable lamb dishes.

The 2001 menu included lamb prepared nine different ways from "Lamb Broth with Barley" to "Whole Roasted Lamb Greek Style with Baby Vegetables." A similar menu is being designed for the 2002 dinner scheduled for Saturday evening, Jan. 12, followed by a speaker from the Campbell Mithun advertising agency on "The New American Lamb Marketing Campaign."

The emphasis on Sunday morning, Jan. 13, will be on wool and marketing. Mike Thonney will describe a blanket manufacturing and sale program used to add value to wool from Cornell sheep that could be adopted by other woolgrowers.

Tom McConnell, a farm management specialist from West Virginia University will discuss statewide wool pooling and the virtual wool warehouse.

Plans for a Halal/Kosher slaughter restraining system will be presented by Joe Regenstein of Cornell's Department of Food Science.

Duncan Hilchey, from the Cornell Farming Alternatives Program, will describe the formation of the Northeast Sheep and Goat Marketing Program (sheepgoatmarketing.org) advisory board and a recently held New York City marketing study tour.

Tatiana Stanton, extension associate in the department of animal science, will discuss how the Northeast Sheep and Goat Marketing Program can work for the short course participants and Bob Melchior, marketing coordinator for the program, will complete the short course by explaining how to establish a price for your sheep.

Details of the short course and a registration form can be found at the Cornell Sheep Program Website (http://www.sheep.cornell.edu/) or by contacting Michelle Cole at 117 Morrison Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853-4801; telephone (607) 255-7712; fax (607) 255-9829; e-mail: mlc-44@cornell.edu.

New Asgrow Corn Hybrids Boost Profit Potential

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Asgrow Seeds will feature 10 new corn hybrids for 2002, featuring traits and technologies that may increase grower production efficiency and profitability.

"Asgrow's innovative breeding, cutting-edge research and industry-leading germplasm, have positioned it as a leader in corn technology," says Dale Sorensen, Monsanto branded corn technical manager. "And Asgrow's continuous advancements provide corn hybrids with stronger disease resistance, superior field agronomics and higher yield potential."

New corn hybrids feature innovations such as improved emergence for early-season performance, Monsanto's YieldGard® Corn Borer trait for season-long insect protection, Roundup Ready® herbicide tolerance, and YieldGard Corn Borer with Roundup Ready corn.

Asgrow and Monsanto researchers working on genetic traits cooperate closely with corn breeders working on the latest germplasm. The focus, Sorensen explains, is to develop hybrids specially suited to individual geographies.

"Asgrow incorporated wide genetic diversity into its hybrids to optimize their yield potential and reduce production risk across various geographics," Sorensen adds. "We have significant genetic diversity among our corn hybrids, and successfully use germplasm from other parts of the world to help U.S. growers improve yields and profits."

PDA Sec. Hayes Leads Student Trade Mission To Mexico 'Export For Scholars'

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Building for agriculture's tomorrow, Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes recently led an agriculture products group to Mexico with 18 students from Delaware Valley College and eight students from W.B. Saul Agricultural High School on an "Export for Scholars" trade mission. The scholars were accompanied by administrative leaders and faculty from the two agricultural schools.

Pennsylvania continues to lead the nation in understanding the significance of culture in the global marketplace.

Secretary Hayes, the students, and other agriculture professionals hosted a Pennsylvania Holstein Field Day during the trade mission, and also attended many business meetings, dairy ranches,the Queretaro Livestock Exposition, agricultural colleges in Queretaro and Guanajuato, and New Holland's farm machine factory in Mexico.

The "Export for Scholars" program was initiated by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and is unique in the nation. In 2000, Secretary Hayes led Delaware Valley College and Saul students to Puerto Rico, for the students' first trade mission which entailed the actual export of bred dairy heifers.

Upon completion of the recent trade mission to Mexico, student participants reflected on their experiences.

"I learned more in eight days about international agriculture and business than I could have in a semester of college," said Jake Lantzsch of Delaware Valley College. "It is a great experience for anyone in 21st century agriculture."

"Export for Scholars," said Del-Val's Audrey A. Nissly, "has provided me with a priceless international agricultural experience, and opened my eyes to many new things. I have learned the importance of the global marketplace."

Troy Davis of W. B. Saul High School said, "Export for Scholars" is a great opportunity for students interested in agriculture. It allows you to get the experience and knowledge of exporting animals."

Pennsylvania export of live animals has averaged about $17.7 million dollars in the past three years. One-third of the state's live animal exports were cattle and calves (dairy and beef). In 2001, total exports of Pennsylvania agriculture products totaled over $1 billion.

Over 80 Holstein heifers were sold and exported to Mexico as part of this "Export for Scholars" program.

An order for another 250 dairy heifers was received by the scholars and trade mission group while they were in Mexico. It is expected that this group of dairy heifers will be exported after the PA Department of Agriculture's AGRO 2002 in January.

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association participated in the selection of registered heifers for this export package. Dave Lenz of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association said, "The "Export for Scholars" program not only resulted in Pennsylvania heifers being sent to Mexico; but, the trade mission came back home with an order for more heifers. This is good business for Pennsylvania dairy breeders."

Dairy professionals joining the trade mission were Burket Falls Farm and Bardale-McMath Farm, both of whom are engaged in the export of dairy heifers to Mexico through the efforts of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

John Burket of Burket Falls Farm and vice president of the PA Holstein Association, said, "I participate in Department of Agriculture trade missions to build relationships with prospective buyers in Mexico. You can't do that by e-mail or fax."

Wenger Farm Machinery is also interested in the export of agriculture equipment due to PDA's initiative to have Pennsylvania agri-business enter the international arena.

St. Joseph University had the opportunity to establish food marketing collaboration with colleges in Mexico.

One of Pennsylvania's leading food companies on the domestic front is TastyKake of Philadelphia. The company is now exploring the Mexican market as a result of trade mission business meetings arranged by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Rodale Institute has an active food education program which the Pennsylvania-based institute wants to "export" to Mexico. As part of the trade mission, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture initiated food education pilot projects for Rodale Institute at two elementary schools, one in the State of Mexico and the other in the State of Queretaro.

Dr. Neil Vincent, vice president for academic affairs at Delaware Valley College, said, "We are excited and pleased to affirm Delaware Valley College's interest in the "Export for Scholars" program initiated by the PA Department of Agriculture. Student involvement in purchasing, breeding, and raising of dairy heifers for export to Mexico provides them with critical and invaluable international experience."

Saul High School Principal Thomas Scott summarized this year's trade mission well when he said, "The training our FFA students went through prepared them for the real world as much as any single program in their high school careers. The goals of the program were clear and readily understood. And the cultural aspect enlarged their universe. "Export for Scholars" is a life-changing experience."

PDA To Host International Ag Visitors At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On behalf of Gov. Mark Schweiker, Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes has announced Agro 2002, an international event to be conducted Jan. 3-7.

Friends of agriculture from across the planet will be traveling to Harrisburg in response to the Department of Agriculture's invitation to celebrate the accomplishments of Pennsylvania's number one industry, agriculture.

"Agro 2002 showcases to the world that Pennsylvania has 'Products for the Planet' featuring the very best of Pennsylvania agriculture. The Department of Agriculture is excited to host our international friends from over 70 countries at the week-long event," Hayes said.

Agro 2002 will begin with a welcome reception for international guests on Jan. 3, in the East Rotunda of the Capitol Building.

On Friday, Jan. 4 at 9:45 a.m. the Agro 2002 Trade Show will begin. Pennsylvania agriculture "export ready" companies from all sectors of Pennsylvania agriculture including foods, hardwoods, machinery, genetics, service, and agri-technology will be represented at the Trade Show. Friday's activities will culminate in an international reception and dinner with over 1,000 agribusiness and agriculture representatives, including international and Pennsylvania guests.

Continuing for several days thereafter, the Pa. Department of Agriculture's international guests will meet with the men and women of Pennsylvania agriculture.

"We are scheduling hundreds of customized business meetings for our international guests and Pennsylvania agribusinesses to foster relationships of mutual benefit for Pennsylvania agriculture and our friends from around the world," Hayes said.

Agro 2002 is the largest international event in Pennsylvania. Plans are being made to host over 200 guests from more than 70 countries. Over 100 agribusiness companies prepared to export their products will participate in the Agro Trade Show and other business meetings.

Tickets to the Agro 2002 International Reception and Dinner, Fri. Jan. 4 are available for $35 by calling (717) 787-3181.

For a complete schedule and more information on Agro 2002 contact the Bureau of Market Development at (717) 787-3181 or visit the Agro 2002 Website through the PA PowerPort at www.state.pa.us or directly at the Department of Agriculture's homepage at www.pda.state.pa.us.

Pennsylvania agriculture is Pennsylvania's leading industry, generating $4.1 cash receipts in 2000. Pennsylvania agriculture exports total nearly $1 billion.

2002 Dairy Calf And Heifer Conference To Examine Profitability Issues

SAVOY, Ill. — The Professional Dairy Heifer Growers Association (PDHGA) will hold its sixth annual Dairy Calf and Heifer Conference from March 21-23, 2002, at the Wyndham Inner Harbor Hotel in Baltimore, Md. The 2002 conference will examine issues that can affect the profitability of raising dairy heifers.

"The goal for the 2002 conference is to present a world-class educational program and provide a forum for industry professionals to discuss timely issues and network with their colleagues," says Dr. Bob James, chairperson of the PDHGA Conference Committee. Dr. James will kick off the conference at 8 a.m. on Thursday with the welcome address.

This year's conference will once again feature Heifer Management Tips sessions coordinated by Dr. Marj Faust of Iowa State University. "These sessions identify individual growers and showcase a unique and interesting practice that they have developed for their operations," Faust says. There will be two Heifer Management Tips sessions during the conference.

Additional program highlights include:

- Financial and Performance Benchmarks for the Heifer Operation, by Dr. Normand St. Pierre of The Ohio State University.
- Employee Handbooks are More Than Just Paperweights!, by Mr. Dave Grusenmyer of Cornell University.
- Building a Professional Business Image, by Bob Pierpont of Monsanto.
- Information Management for the Calf and Heifer Operation, by Mr. Will Pape, chairman of the board and founder of AgInfoLink Global, Inc.
- Nutrient Management for the Calf and Heifer Operation, by Dr. Katharine Knowlton of Virginia Tech.
- Nutrient Management for the Pasture-Based Heifer Operation, by Dr. Wendy Powers of Iowa State University.
- Key Factors to Composting Systems for the Calf and Heifer Operation, by Dr. Bill Seekins of the Maine Department of Agriculture.
- Building Your Employee Handbook, a workshop limited to 40 registrants, given by Mr. Dave Grusenmyer.
- Nutritional Management of the Growing Heifer, by Dr. Mike VandeHaar of Michigan State University.
- Pricing Feed Ingredients Based on Their Nutritional Value, by Dr. Normand St. Pierre.
- Benchmarks for Evaluating Reproductive Management of the Heifer.
- Enterprise, by Dr. Dick Wallace of the University of Illinois.
- Essentials of a Progressive Vaccination Program, by Dr. Vic Cortese from Pfizer Inc. Cortese is an expert on the topic of vaccination programs.
- Economics of a Biosecurity Program, by Dr. Mark Gardner, a practicing veterinarian in Varysburg, N.Y.
- Preventing and Controlling Heifer Mastitis, by Dr. Steve Oliver, a professor of animal science at the University of Tennessee.
- Neospora — A Problem in Dairy Heifers?, by Dr. Lesvek Choromanski from Intervet.

The conference will conclude Saturday morning, March 23, with a tour of the Mason-Dixon Farm, a heifer operation near Gettysburg, Pa. The Waybright family operates the 1,900-cow Holstein dairy. The Waybright's heifer facilities are designed to maximize labor and nutrient efficiency, and have been generating electricity from manure solids for over 20 years.

For additional information on the 2002 conference and PDHGA, contact the association office toll-free at (877) 434-3377, or visit the association Website at www.pdhga.org.

Rural Cooperatives Magazine Available From Superintendent Of Documents

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rural Cooperatives Magazine provides news, features and research encompassing the broad scope of America's farmer-owned cooperatives, including utility and other types of rural cooperatives. It is essential reading not only for co-op directors and management staff, but also for agricultural teachers, economists, attorneys and other professionals who work with co-ops.

Rural Cooperatives features:

- In-depth articles on co-op business management and operations;
- News on recent developments in outstanding cooperatives around the country;
- Research on economic and operational trends impacting the cooperative sector;
- Statistical information that charts the progress of the cooperative sector and helps to guide future legislation relating to co-ops;
- Commentary and view on key issues facing co-ops.

All of this information and more is available through a subscription to Rural Cooperatives. Published by the USDA, Rural Cooperatives addresses the changing needs of farmer co-ops and their economic interests, helping co-ops, large and small, better serve the needs of their members.

Cooperatives are a crucial part of the fabric of rural life across America, and Rural Cooperatives is a valuable tool that helps to ensure their future success.

Rural Cooperatives, a bimonthly magazine (stock number 701-020-00000-6), is available for $21 for orders within the U.S. and $26.25 for orders outside the U.S. All prices are free of tax and include regular shipping and handling charges. International orders are subject to a 25 percent surcharge for special handling required by international mailing regulations.

A subscription to Rural Cooperatives can be ordered by phone at (866) 512-1800 (Toll Free) or (202) 512-1800 (DC area), 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., eastern standard time, Monday through Friday; by fax at (202) 512-2250, 24 hours a day; through our Online Bookstore at http://bookstore.gpo.gov (secure ordering); and by mail. All orders must include the appropriate stock number.

Phone and fax orders may be paid for with MasterCard, VISA, Discover/NOVUS, or American Express. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954. Also, visit one of the nearest U.S. Government Bookstore locations across the country.

New Cumberland Couple Forest Stewards

NEW CUMBERLAND (Cumberland Co.) — Roland and Luella Cope, New Cumberland, were recognized recently as forest stewards.

Paul Troutman, service forester for the Bureau of Forestry, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, presented the award at the Copes' property.

Being designated as a forest steward is an honor reserved for forest landowners who have made a commitment to managing their forest resources to ensure their health and productivity for years to come.

Donald P. Oaks, district forester for the Weiser Forest District of the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Bureau of Forestry, said the Copes started the process of becoming forest stewards by having a forest stewardship plan prepared by Paul Hyde, a forestry consultant from Liverpool. The Weiser forest district covers Carbon, Dauphin, Lebanon, Lehigh, and Schuylkill counties.

Cornell University Horticulturist Made Fellow In ASHS

GENEVA, N.Y. — Cornell University professor of horticultural sciences Alan Lakso was chosen a 2001 Fellow by the American Society for Horticultural Science (ASHS).

Lakso seeks to understand the environmental and physiological limitations of the biological and economic productivity of apples and grapes, with a focus on growth and development, stress physiology and the effects of cultural practices. The information is used to establish economically feasible, efficient and environmentally sound cultural practices to obtain high yields of the highest quality fruit.

Delaware Professor Receives Grant To Expand Research On Manure Management

NEWARK, Del. — Dr. J. Thomas Sims, professor of soil and environmental chemistry at the University of Delaware, won $253,622 as part of a $1.8 million regional grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Initiative Future Agriculture and Food Systems.

A national authority on soil testing, nutrient management and water quality, Sims will work with colleagues in animal health and nutrition at the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Maryland, Cornell University and Virginia Tech to conduct manure management and water quality research on northeastern and mid-Atlantic dairy farms.

"First, we hope to identify feeding strategies that will reduce phosphorus in dairy manures as well as establish manure-handling practices that will help protect the environment from excess nutrients from agricultural lands," says Sims.

"We also plan to improve existing software programs for recording and tracking manure management practices and to organize a regional education program to share our findings and give recommendations.

"Most of my research efforts are collaborative, multi-disciplinary and multi-institutional," Sims says, "so findings will have significance throughout the mid-Atlantic region."

In addition to developing and implementing soil and waste management programs for production agriculture, Sims has worked on similar initiatives with industry and municipalities in his ongoing effort to improve the environmental impact of nutrient wastes on ground and surface waters. He regularly serves as a technical adviser to state and federal agencies developing solutions to water quality problems.

Black Welsh Mountain Sheep Registry Updated

PAONIA, Colo. — As anyone with purebred, registered animals knows, continuity of a registry is all important. Though faltering in recent years, the Black Welsh Mountain sheep, a rare breed even in its native Wales, has had its pedigree tracked almost as carefully as some European royal houses.

Starting in the U.S. with the meticulous records kept by Thomas Wyman, the original importer of this charming ebony black breed, and with records kept by the original breed registry by Mr. and Mrs. Hoctor, there is an almost continuous record of every animal, whether registered, or not, on the North American continent.

After a recent reformation in 2000, the American Black Welsh Mountain Sheep Association is now ready to continue the registration of these unique sheep. Oogie McGuire, secretary/treasurer, has bravely taken up the torch, armed with state of the art computer equipment, and a custom designed program, which tracks not only genealogy, but serious health issues as well. With the full support of the small but vigorous fan club of these uniquely black sheep, the registry continues on unbroken, and better than ever.

The nine member board of directors is active and continuously seeking to improve both the registry process and the breed itself. The board is bolstered by the support of the United Kingdom's Black Welsh Mountain Association, whose acting chairman, Margaret Brain, visited in 2000 to inspect sheep and methodology.

The board is also being actively supported and advised by the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy in their efforts to maintain, and hopefully increase, the numbers of these hardy, intensely black sheep.

Although the primary interest in this rare breed is the highly visible color, which is dominant when crossbred, they are also highly desirable breed for their ability to thrive in adverse circumstances, to raise healthy, fat lambs in areas other sheep would starve, and to have very few health problems while doing so. These sheep have a very high meat to bone ratio compared to some larger breeds, and a delicate flavor due to lower fat marbling. The wool is highly prized by hand spinners for its remark able blackness and resistance to sun fading.

For more information, contact the ABWMSA at P.O. Box 534, Paonia, CO 81428-0534.

Chesapeake Bay Leaders Adopt Three Agreements Curbing Development's Impact On Bay

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Three new cooperative agreements that will minimize the impact of development on urban waterways were adopted at the annual meeting of the Chesapeake Executive Council by representatives from environmental groups, trade associations, and local, state and federal governments. The regional pacts aim to improve water quality in the Bay and its tributaries by encouraging regional planning, storm water management and low-impact development in many parts of the Chesapeake Bay watershed.

The Chesapeake Executive Council — comprised of District of Columbia Mayor Anthony A. Williams; Maryland Governor Parris N. Glendening; Pennsylvania Governor Mark Schweiker; Virginia Governor James S. Gilmore, III; U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Christine Todd Whitman; and Chesapeake Bay Commission Chair Brian E. Frosh — unveiled a new Chesapeake Bay Program initiative committed to developing new technologies to reduce storm water pollution and enhance existing storm water management practices on government owned lands.

In hopes of further reducing the environmental impacts from residential and commercial development, the Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, the Center for Watershed Protection and the National Association of Home Builders today signed an agreement launching Builders for the Bay. This new partnership encourages the voluntary adoption of site design principles that benefit local waters and the Chesapeake Bay. Over the next two years, the program plans to seek the voluntary adoption of these principles in twelve counties or municipalities in the Bay watershed.

Officials from the District of Columbia, the State of Maryland and Montgomery and Prince George's counties also signed a regional pact stepping-up efforts to restore the Anacostia watershed. The 2001 Anacostia Watershed Restoration Agreement builds upon earlier regional agreements and sets new, comprehensive goals for restoring water quality and living resources in the Anacostia basin.

The agreement commits to 50 restoration targets, including creating additional riparian forest buffers, decreasing impervious surface area through low impact development, and establishing active river advocacy groups in each major Anacostia subwatershed.

The Bay Program's storm water directive is one of the first major restoration milestones called for in last year's historic Chesapeake 2000 agreement. Given projected increases in urban and suburban growth, managing storm water is one of the most important priorities Bay Program partners will undertake to improve water quality and sustain progress in restoring the Bay's living resources. The directive focusing on government lands is a significant first step in that process.

Urban storm water runoff is responsible for about 15 percent of nutrients (both nitrogen and phosphorus) and nine percent of sediments entering the Bay and its tributaries, and is responsible for impairments on over 1,570 miles of streams within the watershed.

Enhanced storm water management improves the health of urban waterways by reducing pollutant loads locally, and also leads to improved water quality downstream by increasing water clarity and reducing excessive algae growth. Urban storm water loads of toxic chemicals are substantial and today's storm water directive commits to reducing these loads by 30 percent by 2008 in areas such as Baltimore Harbor and the Anacostia and Elizabeth Rivers.

Increased population and development within the Chesapeake Bay watershed have created challenges for Bay Program partners in controlling the amount of nutrients reaching the Bay's waters.

Top Producers Choose Knight!

Congratulations to the La-Foster Farm

Terry and Gerald Foster are very proud of their record-breaking cow, Lucy, and rightly so. She produced 75,260 pounds of milk in her last lactation. They are also pleased with their Knight Reel Auggie® mixers, which, combined with the Foster's excellent management practices, have propelled the La-Foster herd average to the #1 milk production status in North Carolina. There is no comparison to the complete, palatable blend from a Knight Reel Auggie, with its patented reel and auger blending combination. Why else would the La-Foster Farm choose only Knight to feed their record-setting herd?

Toothbars

New Holland heavy duty toothbars are perfect for digging in tough ground that regular buckets can't handle. They also reduce wear to the cutting edge on a standard bucket.

| Part# | Description | Price | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 9624719DS | 60"/Heavy Duty/Replaceable teeth | $272.72 | Reg $303 02 |

Crop Preservative

CropSaver PUREFIED ACID

THE ADVANTAGES OF CROPSAVER-TREATED HAY VS DRY PRESERVATIVE-TREATED HAY
CropSaver-treated hay is greener and more moist
Improved hay bale quality brings a higher sale price
Cows love it and produce more milk when they eat it
CropSaver is chemically buffered, minimizing equipment rust
Dry hay preservatives are weaker, usually labeled only up to 25% moisture, and are more difficult to apply evenly and consistently

ROUND BALER 4'x5'

Featuring the ALL-NEW Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System

GREAT BALING STARTS HERE Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System Here's how it works The incoming crop is pulled off the pickup by the aggressive action of two power in-feed rolls – a 6-inch-diameter pivoting power in-feed roll on top and an 8-inch diameter fixed power in-feed roll on the bottom

The top pivoting power in-feed roll rides over the crop as it is pulled into the bale chamber An extension spring keeps the toproll under constant downward force

The spring tension increases as the variable throat opens from a minimum of 3/4 of an inch up to a maximum opening of nearly 7 inches

The constant downward force of the pivoting upper powered in-feed roll, in combination with the fixed lower in-feed roll, both turning inward, pinches the crop and forces it into the bale chamber The stripping roll strips crop off the belt and forces it down to the incoming crop Adjustable scrapers on the stripping roll and pivoting roll eliminate buildup

THREE-BALL TWINE BOX. Gehl balers are designed to keep you going all day long with six-ball twine storage. They're located in full-size doors that open to provide easy access to baler components like an optional chain oiler system or the Total Density Control adjustments.

GAUGE WHEELS. Allow the pickup to follow field contours while keeping tines out of the dirt. That saves wear and tear on the pickup and means less dirt in your bale. Gauge wheels are standard equipment with the wide pickup and an option with some others.

BELTS. Deluxe balers feature chevron belts (pictured above) with heavy duty, plate-type belt lacing. The belts are 6-1/2 inches wide for closer spacing between belts and less space between the belts and side sheets. Belts are configured in a staggered pattern to minimize trash build-up.

Ag Leader® Technology

THE SYSTEM

The Ag Leader PF 3000 Precision Farming System, with the Add-on GPS Model 3000 beacon-only or 3100 beacon/satellite GPS, offers more benefits and portability than any other precision farming system in the industry. The system gives you one integrated console with antenna for yield monitoring, variable rate application control, mapping, site verification, soil sampling and more. As an integrated unit, you will save hundreds of dollars over competing systems.

THE DEALER

Since 1994, Hoober has been in the forefront of the advanced technology revolution, working closely with yield monitors and satellite mapping systems. And to meet the demands of current and future satellite technology, Hoober service technicians will continue to focus their efforts on servicing state-of-the-art Precision Farming equipment.

ATV's can be hazardous to operate. For your safety always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing. Never ride on paved surfaces or public roads. Never carry passengers, never engage in stunt driving, skiing and alcohol drugs don't mix and could cause injury or even death. Avoid excessive speeds and be particularly careful on difficult terrain. The Arctic Cat ATV may not be ridden by anyone under 16 years of age. Arctic Cat recommends that all riders take a training course, and that they read and understand their owner's manual before operation. For safety or training information, see your dealer or call the ATV Safety Institute at 1-800-887-2887. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Arctic Cat urges you to "Tread Lightly," on public and private land. Preserve your future, along opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws, and the rights of others when you ride. ©2000 Arctic Cat Inc. ®™ Trademarks of Arctic Cat Sales Inc. # GEHL®

YOUR LIVESTOCK IMPLEMENT LINE

Unmatched Capacity

Gehl Forage Harvesters Get The Job Done Faster With These Special Features:

Exclusive Auto-Max™ Load Management System

Big 12" Cross Auger
Keeps cut crop moving.

Metal Stop™ Metal Detector
Prevents machine damage and hardware disease.

Reverse Knife Sharpening and One-Side Cutterbar Adjustment
Makes sharpening and adjustment easy.

Crop Processing Unit
Features high-capacity, "straight through" crop flow design.

Hay Pickups
Available up to 9-feet wide.

TMR "Total Mix" Mixer Feeders

"Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration - up to 30% by weight depending on hay type and moisture content.

- "Hay - slicer auger" - Incorporates knife assemblies into the two bottom augers.
- Better mixing action - Four-auger design creates a double figure - 8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy efficient - Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built to last - Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Five sizes - 150 to 455 cubic feet capacities.

GEHL. FINANCING OPTIONS ON TMR MIXER FEEDERS

7.9% for 48 months With Full Cash Rebates

Waiver of Finance on new Gehl Equipment until January 1, 2003 Then 7.9% APR for up to 48 months

Messick's Becomes Dealer For Equipment Technologies

MOORESVILLE, Ind. — Equipment Technologies Inc. (E.T.), a manufacturer of high-capacity, high-clearance sprayers, recently announced the addition of Messick's Farm Equipment to their team of dealers.

Messick's will sell E.T.'s Apache 700 and 800 Series mechanical drive sprayers, as well as the Cherokee hydrostatically driven sprayer, to customers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware.

"We're pleased to have Messick's as part of our dealer team and feel their experience with agricultural products will contribute to our customer satisfaction," Jim Bates, E.T.'s vice president of sales and marketing, said. Messick's, which is located in Elizabethtown, Pa., carries a full line of agricultural and construction equipment.

Northeast Agri Systems Contributes For Sept. 11 Victims

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Every September, Northeast Agri Systems, Inc., a company that erects poultry and swine housing and sells equipment and supplies for poultry, swine, and egg production, has offered special pricing on certain supplies needed for cooler weather.

The special pricing is offered through a mailing to Northeast Agri Systems' customers.

This year the September mailing was delayed and changed. In addition to special pricing, for each item purchased a donation would be made to the New York Times 9/11 Neediest Fund. Administered by the New York Times Neediest Fund at no charge, 100 percent of the donations are being distributed by seven social service agencies and three foundations representing the uniform services.

By Nov. 30, when the offer ended, the special program raised $439.

David Newman, vice president of Northeast Agri Systems, said, "Although many of us are not directly related to the victims, they are the people who have supported us by purchasing our poultry, dairy, and pork products. We are happy to make this small contribution."

For more information on the New York Times 9/11 Neediest Fund, visit their webpage at www.charitywave.com.

Dow AgroSciences Launches Customer Resource Tool

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Dow AgroSciences LLC has announced a new customer-focused Website — www.dowagro.com. The new site allows visitors worldwide to stay current on product information, company news and industry issues both locally and globally, while helping them prepare for future opportunities or challenges.

Customers around the world, who rely on the Internet for breaking news and industry-affecting initiatives, can now obtain comprehensive information from the new Website on issues that affect their businesses.

"Because our customers have 24/7 access to local product information, as well as the ability to monitor events relating to their industry in other countries, they can make better decisions for similar circumstances that affect their own businesses," says Janice E. Smith, global e-communications leader at Dow AgroSciences.

New sections at www.dowagro.com include: Issue Forum; Responsible Care; News Room; and Career Opportunities.

Dekalb Expands Soybean Lineup

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Nine new soybean varieties highlight a powerful lineup from DeKalb Genetics Corporation for 2002.

"Dekalb has developed new soybean varieties with traits to match almost any grower's needs and local conditions," says Walter Mayhew, soybean technical manager. "Dekalb seed offers higher germination rates, superior seed purity and higher yields."

Seven of the nine new varieties offer Roundup Ready® herbicide tolerance, with one variety adding STS® herbicide tolerance. "Growers already recognize the value of the Roundup Ready® weed control system. They will quickly recognize the value of new and improved varieties when they try the new Dekalb soybeans," says Mayhew.

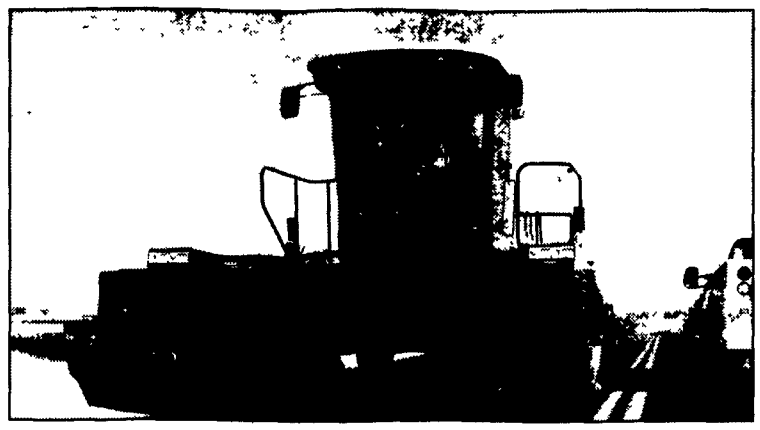
In addition to new varieties, DKB31-51 has earned Residue Proven™ status for high performance in reduced tillage. It's a high-yielding early Group III Roundup Ready variety with multi-race Phytophthora root rot resistance. It features excellent emergence and very good standability, as well as very good Brown stem rot tolerance.

Hesston Introduces 12-Foot Disc-Header For 8550S Windrower

ATLANTA, Ga. — A new, narrower, 12-foot (3.7-meter) version of the popular Hesston 8070 disc header helps make road transporting easier and safer, slips through tighter bridges and gates, and reduces storage space.

Designed specifically for the Hesston 8550S Self-Propelled Windrower, the 8070 header features eight discs, with two, swingaway, reversible knives per disc, turning at 2,600 rpm for a knife tip speed of 184 mph (296 kph). Cutting height can be set from ¾ inch to 3 inches (19-76 millimeters). Steel-on-steel intermeshing conditioner rolls are 110 inches (2.8 meters) wide with crop discharge width adjustable from 40-96 inches (1.0-2.4 meters). A unique design, which includes a spiral turbulence-reduction roll between the modular-design cutterbed and the conditioner, improves cutoff and feeding in light conditions, compared to other disc headers.

"A Hesston 8550S windrower with the new 12-foot (3.7-meter)



Hesston 8070 header on 8550S Windrower.

8070 header is ideal for custom cutters and producers faced with irregular fields, transport-width restrictions, or limited storage space," reports Eric Raby, Hesston general marketing manager. "The 8550S features a six cylinder, turbocharged Cummins diesel engine turning out 165 horsepower. This means plenty of power to go places no sickle windrower can go, at speeds no sickle mower can match. That includes wet, snarled mixed hay; tall sorghum Sudan grass; unruly Kleingrass; and, of course, the thickest, lushest alfalfa."

Accessories for the 8070 header include high skid shoes and electric swathboard actuator kits. The 8550S windrower also accepts the previous 15-foot (4.6-meter) version of the 8070 header, and draper headers from 21-30 foot (6.4-9.1 meter).

Customer Input, Team Engineering Play Key Roles In New Sprayer

BENSON, Minn. — The new SPX 4260 Patriot sprayer delivers on a promise made when Case IH purchased Tyler in 1998 — to provide the best application equipment technology on the market.

"Many of the machine's improvements are the results of our focus on listening, then responding, to customer needs," says Irv Aal, general manager, CNH Sprayer Business Unit. "We believe this is now the flagship among Class IV sprayers."

The improvements start on the front-end with the Surveyor cab, the operator's "office in the field."

"Farmers who have the STX Series tractors are saying great things about this cab," says Aal. "We've made some modifications for the sprayer — such as the controls — and the comfort and convenience are major improvements."

Engineering teams in four locations had a hand in developing the Surveyor cab for use on the SPX 4260 sprayer. In particular, teams of Case IH engineers in Fargo, N.D., (where the STX Series tractors are built) and Benson, Minn., have worked closely to develop and modify the cab, using a cross-engineering approach.

The cab technology makes use of several components found on Case IH combines, tractors and application equipment, allowing for parts commonality. The control console in the new sprayer was derived from the Axial-Flow® combine. Although the electronic control systems are more complex on a sprayer, the basic console is much like the combine.

Other examples of SPX 4260 parts common to other Case IH equipment include the 8.3L, 260-horsepower engine, electronic components from air-seeding equipment, and a turn-signal mechanism from the MAXXUM® tractor.

In university and independent laboratory tests, the new Case IH SPX 4260 Surveyor cab has been certified to meet the stringent requirements set forth in the ASAE S525 standard for pesticide filtration. This industry standard was developed in response to the worker protection standard issued by the EPA. During spraying operations, this certified system allows the operator to be exempt from wearing certain personal protective equipment (PPE) while spraying.

A newly designed fresh air filter greatly exceeds the requirements for particulate reduction and vapor adsorption, and it is easily serviced from ground level. The cab has a pressure gauge to ensure that all systems are working correctly and has ample space for internal storage of PPE when not worn by the operator.

The cab offers outstanding visibility and comfort. Features include:

- The Optima™ seat has air-ride suspension, swivels and can be adjusted to various comfort settings. An optional trainer seat is available.
- Sixty-seven square feet of glass provides excellent visibility on the road or in the field. Windows extend to the floor on both sides of the dashboard. Thermal safety glass helps keep heat out.
- Gauges showing engine functions have digital LED readouts and are placed at eye level on the right front corner post.
- The steering wheel offers tilt and telescoping functions.

"The comfort level in the cab is probably the biggest plus on the new sprayer," says Aal. "The seat, more glass, and having the control console on the armrest with the key controls at your fingertips, all add up to peak efficiency during many long days of spraying."

Land Pride Introduces 48-Inch Primary Seeder

SALINA, Kan. — Land Pride's new 15 Series Primary Seeder, PS1548, offers a 48-inch seeding width with a narrow profile; ideal for landscaping applications. This seeder features a ground driven metering system and offers the solid advantages of a full width seeding pattern.

Land Pride seeders protect falling seed by offering water-tight seedbox lids, wind guards and low seed drop. Our fluted seed cups offer precision metering and openings are easily adjusted to handle a variety of seed. Land Pride seeders also feature all-welded seedboxes, easily accessible drive components, cast-iron packing wheels and unmatched seeding rates.

Everlast Roofing, Inc.

Metal Roofing & Siding

The Ultimate G-100 Process
"The Best"

1. Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2. Epoxy Primer
3. Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4. G-100 Zinc Coating
5. Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6. Heat formed, less paint cracks
7. 36 Cove Width, 9, Everlast II

NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

1. One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2. Primer coat, promotes outstanding top coat adhesion.
3. Zinc phosphate pretreatment. This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider.
4. G-100 Galvanized. Most metal roofing has approx. 40% less galvanized under the paint. G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels.
5. Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6. Heat formed: Metal is painted before ribs are formed. Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks. (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years).
7. Stronger design, superior strength, more metal per L.F.
8. Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53.37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$46.74 PER SQUARE
$1.48 PER LINEAL FT.

EVERLAST II EVERLAST II EVERLAST II

Metal Roofs Aren't Created Equal

EVERLAST II IS BETTER:

- it is galvanized heavier, like old times.
- it is heat formed, less paint cracks.
- is cut while hot, prevents early edge rust.
- won't scratch as easy, paint is harder.
- won't bend or buckle as easy, stronger design.
- laps are tighter, and virtually invisible.
- nail/screws seal better, ribs fit tighter to head.
- zinc phosphate, not chromate under paint.
- still priced about the same or less.

EVERLAST II
is excellent for houses and barns.

DOUBLE DIPPED GALVANIZED
is proven best for animals.

STANDING SEAM

CAN ALSO BE PICKED UP OR DELIVERED FROM LEBANON PLANT

Waterbeds for Cows

The ALANTA Waterbed for cows is a revolutionary product, comfortable, safe and hygienic. It clearly improves your cows' well-being and therefore promotes higher milk production. It is the ultimate stall floor covering for the modern, animal-friendly dairy farm.

WELL MADE
The ALANTA Waterbed is made of two rubber layers with a water-filled compartment in between. GD-Enerka gives a 10 year guarantee.

COMFORTABLE
The waterbed molds itself to the cow's shape. It's cool in summer and pleasantly warm in winter.

SAFE
Thanks to the non-slip rubber upper surface, the cow is gripped firmly and cannot slip. All in all, ALANTA Waterbeds prevent damage to hooves and limbs.

Your Dairy Herd
Call us today for a feeding program built to fit your Dairy Herd and your Production Goals.

For maximum performance and income over feed cost, rations should be balanced to provide the optimum levels of degradable and undegradable protein, nonstructural and structural (fiber) carbohydrate as well as minerals and vitamins. This allows for maximum utilization of the rumen microbes and total ration efficiency. Because your needs may be different from your neighbor's, we adjust the following nutrients and ingredients to fit your needs and goals.

- Amino Acids
- Protein
- By-Pass Protein
- Energy
- Fiber
- Calcium
- Phosphorus
- Salt
- Vitamins & Trace Minerals
- Organic Trace Minerals
- Multi-Protein Sources
- Added Animal Fat
- Rumen Inert Fats
- Buffers
- Yeast
- Zinpro

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients

For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

Outdoor Mousers Program

CPR for Cats and Dog Society announces their 'Outdoor Mousers' program.

Here's how the 'Outdoor Mousers' program works CPR will come to your barn, farm or land and take an agreed upon number of your outdoor cats that are friendly and healthy and place them up for adoption as indoor-only pets after we've vaccinated and spayed/neutered the cats When we come to your farm, barn or land, to pick up your cats, we will bring and place an agreed upon number of our outdoor-only cats with you Our outdoor-only cats will be fully vaccinated and spayed/neutered before being place at your farm, barn or land There is no charge for the Outdoor Mousers program and no adoption fee You only need to agree to provide a home, food and water for the Outdoor Mousers The goal of the Outdoor Mousers program is to provide friendly healthy outdoor cats with an opportunity to live as indoor only pets In exchange, CPR will provide vaccinated and altered outdoor-only cats to the farm, barn or land owner to assist with rodent control For additional information about the Outdoor Mousers program,

SEASON'S GREETINGS

This year is fast closing on us and will soon be history. There will be many stories to tell as in years gone by. The Greatest Story of all history is the Birth of Christ. But the story and fact of history is the Resurrection of that same baby - now a young man i.e. the Greatest Event of all times. For years I've tried to not get caught up in the hustle and bustle of this season by buying a lot of things. We in America are indeed Blessed beyond any other country as a whole and I believe we take our Blessing and our life style for granted. My sincere hope is that all past, present and future clients will enjoy this Holiday Season. May you enjoy the Peace that only The Saviour of the world can bring. May you enjoy a Prosperous New Year and may we all be Thankful for our rich Blessings, Heritage and the Celebration that comes from enjoying life, health and Peace.
